Anglo American Naval Agreement Is Believed Near

FIVE POWER CONFERENCE IS DELAYED

Indications Are That Meet Will Be Held in London First of Next Year

MAY ABOLISH SUBS

Premier MacDonald Will Visit U. S. and Also Meet With Old Friends

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(UP)—An Anglo American naval agreement has almost been reached, it was said in authoritative quarters today.

Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald will not discuss anything but naval matters on his coming visit to Washington, the same authority added.

(Any Anglo-American agreement will be subject to the decisions of a five power conference to be called later).

The only question now under discussion is a matter of three cruisers armed with 5-inch guns. The United States wants 21 such cruisers and Britain 15. The question is whether Britain's quota shall be raised to 18, making the ratio 21 to 18, or the United States quota be cut to 18 making the ratio 18 to 18.

The five power conference most likely will be held in mid-January.
It will be regarded as a renewal of the 1921 conference at Washington which limited capital ships.

Great Britain wants a total of 50 cruisers, including 15 with 3 inch guns and 35 with 6 inch guns, making a total tonnage of 339,000. The United States wants a total of 36, including 221 with 8 inch guns and 15 with 6 inch guns, totaling 315-000 tons.

It was disclosed today that Premier MacDonald plans to visit old friends in Philadelphia after he returns to New York after he leaves Washington on October 10.

The agreement was said on the highest authority, embodies a specification that Britain and the United States agree that total abolition of submarines is desired.

Britain's cruiser demands cover the entire British empire, in similar fashion to the agreement on battleships at the Washington arms conference.

MacDonald and President Hoover have agreed that there should be a downward curve in naval construction until 1936. In 1935 the political situation of the world will be reviewed to see if further reductions are possible.

Russian Airplanes Take Pictures Of Chinese Positions

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 16.
—(UP)—An official communique issued today said that although the border where Chinese and Soviet troops are massed in great numbers was quiet, Russian airplanes were continuously flying over Rufenho, on the eastern frontier, photographing the Chinese positions.

SPECULATION RIFE OVER ACTION OF BOARD IN CARRILLO HEARING

35 SANTA ANA MEN SENT TO SAN JACINTO

Conscripted Here to Fight Forest Fire Threatening Famed Resort

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 16.— (UP)—More than 200 men under the direction of Supervisor
J. E. Elliott, of the San Bernardino national forest, today were fighting a huge fire that broke out early yesterday six miles east of Hemet at Bautiste canyon near Val Vista.

The fire, which has burned over 1000 acres has completely cut off the San Jacinto ranger station and no word has been received as to whether or not it was destroyed.

A brisk wind fanned the flames and many valuable mountain homes were threatened. Elliott ordered that men in Hemet and San Jacinto be drafted to fight the fire which is still raging out of control.

Thirty-five men were conscripted here this morning and rushed to the scene of what is reported to be the worst fire in the San Bernardino Forest Reserve this year. Call for men from the Santa Ana district came by long distance telephone to the sheriff's office last night and the men left here on special busses at 9 o'clock this morning.

According to reports received here, the fire is raging along the new Hemet-Idyllwild high gear road and is within two miles of Camp Keene. Fear was expressed for the safety of hundreds of cabins and summer homes at Idyllwild.

An emergency crew of 200 men hurriedly recruited from the valley towns and Riverside were apparently losing the fight last night when it was reported that 5000 square acres had been burned over and that the flames were headed for the big timber in that section of the forest.

Two hunters seen near the place where the fire first started are believed to have been responsible for the blaze.

Man Charges Beating By Young Women

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 16.— (UP)—Two young women were sought by police here today at the request of Hugh Martin, 25, who said he was picked up by the pair, driven to a lonely woods near Arden, beaten, stripped of his clothing—except his socks—and forced to walk home.

Doctors took five stitches in Martin's scalp where he said the "amazons" hit him with an auto wrench.

FIVE THOUSAND PASS THROUGH NEW HOSPITAL

St. Joseph's Is Opened to Public Sunday—Plant Ranks With Best

THE SISTERS of St. Joseph welcomed 5000 visitors at the new St. Joseph hospital when they opened the building for the inspection of the public at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the occasion marking the culmination of a year's construction work on the hospital and the nurses home on Stewart drive. The hospital reception was continued today during the same hours—from 9 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon.

At 10 o'clock hundreds of visitors had already arrived from all parts of Orange county and Southern California, several groups driving down from San Francisco to be present. Prominent church dignitaries and church workers were among the throngs who had set apart this day to offer their congratulations to Mother Frances and the Sisters of St. Joseph on the beautiful and modern hospital they have established in Orange county.

The cream stucco buildings with their tiled roofs, were very beautiful, flooded with the sunshine of a perfect September Sunday.

SENATE TODAY CONTINUES ITS TARIFF DEBATE

Administration Leaders in Washington Openly Use Hoover's Name

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—
(UP)—In the face of continued silence from the White House administration leaders in the senate are publicly linking the name of the president with their $600-000,000 tariff revenue bill.

Answering the farm bloc charge that Mr. Hoover would not stand for such a general tariff revision, his congressional leaders are going as far as they can to spread the impression that it generally can be considered "a Hoover bill" in contradistinction to the house bill, which Mr. Hoover obviously did not favor.

Chairman Reed Smoot of the finance committee has informed the senate his committee strictly followed the president's wishes in framing the pending measure. He has publicly denied he ever talked with the president on the subject of tariff, although he called at the White House twice and spent a week end at the White House in the Blue Ridge mountains while his committee was framing the bill.

Smoot's statement that the bill as it stands meets the approval of the executive who must sign it before it can become a law has been echoed nationally by Republican floor leader Watson in a radio broadcast, but Watson also declined to pin the bill directly upon the president.

Both Smoot and Watson founded their statements, they say, upon their belief the bill meets the tariffs requirement laid down in the president's last public utterance on the subject, his message at the opening of the special farm relief session of congress. At that time Mr. Hoover said tariff revision must be confined to those industries which have suffered bonafide depressions due to influx of foreign goods. Mr. Hoover asked "a limited revision." Smoot and Watson claim their bill is limited.

The point is exceedingly important because the Republican farm bloc group led by Senator Borah of Idaho insist "the sky over the house or senate bill." They say they also are fighting for the revision to farm products. They want to wipe out all or practically all of the industrial increases.

The only intimation from the

PRESIDENT OF OIL COMPANY PASSES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—
(UP)—Word that A. L. Bagnall, Los Angeles philanthropist and president of the Chickasaw Oil company, died in Berlin Saturday, has been received by friends.

Bagnall came to Los Angeles five years ago from Japan, where he was president of the Tokio Electric company. He left last June with his wife and son for a world tour.

HIGH TIDE RELEASES STEAMER FROM MUD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.— (UP)—Released from her bed of mud in the harbor of Mazatlan, Mexico, where she lay all yesterday afternoon, the Panama Mail liner Guatemala, with her 112 passengers and crew of 98, was steaming to Los Angeles under her own power today.

She is expected to arrive at Los Angeles Thursday, where a survey will be made of her damage.

The liner was caught by the outgoing tide and settled on the muddy bottom of the harbor floor. She floated on the next high tide, just as a tug was leaving San Pedro to render assistance.

Interpreter Will Answer Seven Charges

Interest at High Pitch Today in Regard to Possible Developments

WITH Charles Carrillo, court interpreter of Orange county, scheduled to appear before the board of supervisors at 2 p. m. tomorrow, interest was at a high pitch today in regard to the nature of tomorrow's developments.

The chief point of interest today was the possible courses of action which the board of supervisors may take in regard to the Carrillo case. That the interpreter will deny his guilt of any wrongful practices was evident today from reports circulated in Santa Ana.

Several possibilities presented themselves today in regard to the action which the board may take.
The supervisors may decide to investigate Carrillo's activities and suspend him during such an investigation, or it may be carried on while he is still in office. The Register has urged that he be suspended during any inquiry in order that the Mexican population of the county would not be in fear of him while the investigation was in progress.

With no definite facts available as to just what nature the session will take the possibility that Carrillo might be dropped from office on the basis of tomorrow's developments was another aspect that was being considered in some quarters. The opposite possibility, that the interpreter might be retained in office without further action by the board was also being speculated upon.

That future action by the board may depend on Carrillo's answer tomorrow and the further developments which may take place at the session before the board was considered as a logical outcome of the meeting.

Affidavits relating to activities of Carrillo were presented by the Register last Tuesday after a careful investigation. These affidavits were given to this paper mainly by Mexicans who had come under Carrillo's sphere in their relation with the law. Other affidavits were based on dealings which Mexicans had had with Carrillo in other matters.

It has been alleged in some quarters that the affidavits presented by the Register would have little weight because they had been made by "jail birds." A check of the various affidavits showed today that out of the 11 presented to the horse show and races and the Brother Of Film Actresses Jailed On Theft Charges

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(UP)—
John J. Noonan, brother of Sally O'Neill and Molly O'Day, motion picture actresses, was held here today as a fugitive from justice.

He was arrested at Hempstead, L. I. yesterday, charged with stealing $10,000 in fur coats and costumes from the Los Angeles home of Ted Lewis, orchestra conductor, a month ago. He said a film actor and studio attache had entrusted the clothing to him and that he was innocent of the theft.

MRS. PANTAGES JURY FIXED! CHARGES BOB SHULER SUNDAY IN SERMON TO CONGREGATION

(UP)—The Rev. R. P.
Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, was ordered today to appear in Superior court and explain his charges that the jury in the murder trial of Mrs. Lois Pantages
"will be hung."

The Rev. Mr. Shuler's prophecy was made last night to members of the congregation of his Trinity Methodist Episcopal church in a sermon that was broadcast over the radio.

Informed of Shuler's intimations, Superior Judge Carlos Hardy, sitting in the Pantages trial, called for the minister to be in court after the regular session today.

In the absence of the jury the pastor will be asked to explain his statement that "the jury in the Mrs. Pantages case will be hung and I can name the person who will hang it."

"I told you before one piece of evidence was taken that the jury in this case would disagree," the Rev. Mr. Shuler was reported to have said. "People have asked me how I know and now I'm going to tell you."

"There is one person on that jury who will see to it that the jury is hung."

"Just at the psychological time during the selection of the jury, a defense attorney went to the court clerk and returned to his table with a smile on his face. He whispered to other members of the defense counsel and they all smiled."

"A minute later the name of the juror was called. I know who he is. It's funny how his name would appear at the psychological moment but I've seen these million dollar defenses before, and it's funny but they usually get the breaks of fate."

METHODIST PASTOR HITS AT SMOKING BY WOMEN AND BILL BOARD TOBACCO ADVERTISING

TAKING no uncertain stand against the present bill board advertising along the highways and in the cities of the nation, Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, last night talked to his congregation on the subject, "Bill Boards vs. the Truth." He carried his protests most vigorously against the menace of the advertising being done by the American tobacco trust in this manner and declared that in and around Santa Ana the bill boards carrying tobacco advertising are half of all the boards placed, leaving only half for all other industries.

Dr. Warner did not hesitate to condemn the practice of women smoking and asserted that while there was no doubt they had as much inherent right to do so as men had, scientific investigation would show that the women using cigarettes will pay an awful price, and expressed great fear for the young women who are smoking.

Opening his sermon with the quotation from one of the Apostle Paul's letters: "All things are lawful, but all things are not expedient," the pastor declared there are certain strictures that face us that do not come under the ban of law, but that are not good examples for the youth of the land.

"In a ride around Santa Ana I noticed that while the advertising is legitimate, there is no uniformity as to size, color, or placement of billboards and received the impression that they are unsightly and unnecessary. The legislature could well do away with them.

There are four classes of billboards: one for autos and gasoline, one for wearing apparel and foodstuffs, and one for refreshing drinks and ice cream, and one for tobacco. The statements and slogans on the second class alone were fairly truthful and educating —the others contained very little truth, although they attracted attention.

"The most startling discovery that I made was that one-half of all the billboards contained advertising for tobacco. While I do not share the viewpoint of the W.
C. T. U., that there should be an anti-tobacco campaign looking to the prohibition of tobacco, I believe that the people should be told the truth concerning the effects of tobacco. The church and Y. M. C.
A. is partly responsible for the situation. During the war we sent cigarettes to the boys and helped light them as they went into the

NAZARENE COMMITTEE MEETS THIS WEEK TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR COLLEGE IN SANTA ANA

STATING that negotiations have been discontinued with the Holly Sugar company for the purchase of the Santa Ana property on South Main street for the proposed location of the Pasadena college, the Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, declared today that the college location committee will meet here this week to consider a new proposition.

The committee meeting will be held at the minister's new home, 711 South Broadway, some time during this week. A citizen of Santa Ana, whose name is withheld from publication, has offered land at what may be considered a satisfactory sum for the college project, according to the Rev. Mr.
Harding. He asserted that if the proposition meets with favor and that if the land is purchased here, new buildings will be built on the property.

A plan contrary to the idea of remodeling old buildings was antagonized when the sugar factory was under consideration.

O. J. Nease, president of the college, the Rev. J. T. Little, Southern California district superintendent, the Rev. H. B.
MacRory of Pasadena; the Rev.
L. A. Reed of Long Beach, and
The Rev. Mr. Harding comprise the college location committee.

Cause for the discontinuance of negotiations with the sugar company was given by the local minister today as being failure of the church and company officials to agree on the sale price. The Church of the Nazarene offered the company $75,000 for the property and the company demanded a sum amounting to $100,000.

ATTENDANCE EXPECTED TO BREAK MARK

Junior College Students to Register Until Thursday When School Opens

JUNIOR HIGHS JUMP

Registration at Schools in City Show Increase in Practically Every Case

SCENES of exciting confusion which prevailed today at Santa junior college and high school, where the campus swarmed with youth intent on arranging classes for the coming year's work, were duplicated at each of the grade schools in the city, as what is expected to be the largest enrollment of pupils in the history of Santa Ana, bade farewell to vacation joys, and turned enthusiastically to the more exacting but no less interesting demands of school.

All of last week was devoted to registration not only at Polytechnic high school, but in the junior high schools and grade schools as well, so there was some semblance of order in these various buildings as pupils made application for text books and had their early classwork outlined.
Junior college registration did not open until today, however, and there, scenes of the liveliest excitement and confusion prevailed, as prospective students poured in at the rate of 35 an hour, during this morning's hours.

Many more were anticipated for this afternoon, as only a fraction of the number on the grounds, could be accommodated this morning, even with the eight different stations where they might register for their chosen courses.
George Holmes was in charge of the desk where fees were required for text books, and other members of the faculty were pressed into service in the other departments.
In previous years, the workers have taken time off at noon for luncheon, but so great was today's rush of prospective students that the staff was working right through the lunch hour.

At Polytechnic high school, the morning hours saw the appearance of 1068 eager-faced young people, more by 130 than appeared for classes on the opening day of 1928.

In comparing the influx of pupils with that of last year, the figures enjoyed a regular see-saw, with one school in advance of previous records, and perhaps the next, falling below. But it will be recalled that the figures are never complete at the opening day, and many additional pupils

NORTHWEST FOREST FIRE CLAIMS VICTIM

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 16.—
(UP)—The Pacific northwest forest fire demon claimed its ninth victim of the year early today, when William Roe, Clark county farmer, was burned to death when he attempted to fight flames which swept down on his home from the Larch mountain and Elk trees.

Mrs. Roe and their son, William Roe Jr., aged 11, were both seriously burned and were rushed here, where they were reported both in a critical condition at St.
Vincent's hospital.

Erection Of Plane Plant Scheduled to Begin Immediately

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 16.—(UP)— Construction of a Pacific coast branch of the Fokker airplane factory will be started here immediately, according to an announcement today by James A.
Talbot, chairman of the board of the company.

The plant will be used to manufacture planes of the DP-32 type and the first machine will be turned out within three months, it was said.

The factory is expected to cost $300,000 and will employ 500 men when completed.

Student Inquiry Into Frat Activities Unlikely

SCHOOL EXPOSE IDEA DISLIKED BY PRESIDENT

That prosecution of illegal fraternities and sororities in the Santa Ana high school will have to come from state or city authorities instead of the students themselves, appeared probable today.

Norman Paul, president of the student body, commenting on the situation, stated that inasmuch as state authorities passed the law banning fraternities, it should be up to them to enforce the law instead of putting the responsibility on the students. It is unfair to the student body officers to make them expose the frats and incur the dislike of fellow students, Paul stated.

The plan, as suggested by the California Interscholastic federation, ruling head of athletics, was to have a committee of students in each school investigate the frats and have them ousted. Each student was to sign a pledge stating that he or she did not belong to any fraternity or sorority. It also was the plan to have all athletic games forfeited in which a fraternity member participated.

The last student body administration, headed by John Kester, never took any direct action on the subject and it will be up to Paul and his new board of control to determine what shall be done.

Paul stated definitely that he has never held membership in any fraternity and has no desire to do so. On the other hand, he thinks properly supervised fraternities do no harm.

Upon being approached on the subject, Bruce Tarver, vice president of the students and varsity football captain, took the same position as Paul in declaring that the students should not be forced to prosecute their fellow students. "I am not a frat man," Tarver stated, "but I think that action should be taken by the board of education or other authorities."

Members of the board point out that when they asked for a showdown several years ago, each fra-

Shuler made no attempt to name the juror but he did describe what he meant by the psychological moment.

That moment he said came when the prosecution had exhausted its challenges.

Judge Hardy said an immediate and complete probe of the charges will be made. In addition to Shuler he ordered newspapermen to whom the pastor talked today to appear before him.

The Rev. Mr. Shuler's publishing and radio activities have kept him constantly in the public eye for the past several years.

During the month of October he faces two trials, one on a charge of criminal libel brought by former Mayor George E. Cryer and another a civil slander suit, brought by Deputy Sheriff Casey Jones.

Just recently the minister was acquitted on an accusation of having criminally libeled the Knights of Columbus.

Shuler has discussed bombastically and at great length concerning the "million dollar defense" in Mrs. Pantages case.

In addition to two prominent Los Angeles lawyers, May Steuer, New York attorney, has been defending her against charges that she is guilty of the automobile collision murder of Juro Rokumoto, Japanese gardener.

The state contends that Mrs. Pantages, wife of the theatrically prominent Alexander Pantages, was intoxicated and driving on the wrong side of the street when her machine struck one driven by Rokumoto.

The defense claims she was sober and that Rokumoto was attempting an improper turn which caused the collision.

there will be a great outcropping in the future of imbecile children. I will not say that woman does not have the same right as man to smoke, but scientific investigation will show that the women using cigarettes will pay an awful price. I fear for the young women who are smoking cigarettes.

"If the tobacco trust is going to put out half of the billboards as compared to all other industries, we should use their own literature, prepared in the scientific laboratories, to fight back. It is not my desire in any campaign to seek the prohibition of tobacco by law, but since the tobacco establishments are placing their case so strikingly before the public, I do think there ought to be a statement made to counteract the enticements of tobacco advertising.

"There is no prohibition of using tobacco or cigarettes in this state, although there is in others. It may be lawful—but is it expedient?"

$250,000 Damage Results From Ship Collision At S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—(UP)—The palatial Panama Pacific liner Virginia, which rent a jagged hole in its bow when it collided with the freighter Hermion, near Golden Gate Saturday, will enter drydock today to undergo repairs.

L. E. Archer, executive of the Panama Pacific line, estimated the actual damage at $100,000. It was believed in marine circles, however, that the total damage will amount to nearly $250,000, as delayed passengers have had to be taken care of; raw silk may have to be shipped by rail at the company's expense and a forfeited may have to be made for delay caused U. S. mail, destined for Central America.

ternity offered to publish a list of members and accept a faculty advisor. The board cannot recognize a fraternity by law and was blocked from action.

Pasadena and Long Beach were the pioneers in eradicating the fraternities and sororities, both schools expelling many students and forfeiting athletic games.

White House, which may or may not be direct, is an article by a newspaperman supposed to be inspired by the president, who interpreted on his own authority, what Mr. Hoover meant by "limited revision" in his campaign speeches.

This authority stated the president meant a generous revision for agriculture and a limited revision for industry, indicating presidential favor of the pending senate measure.

While this dispute goes on in and out of senate doors, the senate was approaching a vote this week on a most important phase of the bill, the proposal to continue the flexible tariff provision and the United States tariff commission. Republicans are urging continuance of the presidential power, operating through the commission, to increase or lower any tariff duty by 50 per cent. The Democrats and farm bloc members are working for curtailment of the commission's power so it would be made merely a fact finding agency for congress. They would abolish the president's power entirely, so congress would retain all tariff making obligations.

Two other matters are on the calendar for the week, the Shearer naval lobby inquiry which will open Friday with Charles M. Schwab and other shipbuilding officials on the stand before the senate naval affairs subcommittee and the investigation of nominees to President Hoover's farm board which will also begin Friday with Chairman Legge of the board on the stand.

appear at the various schools later in the school was not considered, according to Miss Elizabeth Phillips of board of education office, for it will not open its session for another week, due to the fact that the new building was not completed in time. Delhi school had 187 registrations as against 202 last year. Edison opened today with 223 pupils, with an enrollment in 1928 of 186.

EXCELSIOR IS DEFENDANT IN $30,190 SUIT

The Excelsior Creamery company was made defendant today in a damage suit asking a total of $30,190 and costs. The suit grew out of an accident, September 1, in Fullerton, when a loaded truck of the creamery company crashed into the car of O. A. Bell, who filed the suit.

Bell asks damages in the sum of $15,000 for injuries to his wife, $140 for damages to his car, $50 for ambulance service and medical attention and $15,000 damages for himself for being deprived of the assistance, comfort and society of his wife.

The complaint alleges that the creamery truck was traveling at an unlawful and excessive rate of speed when it struck his car at the intersection of Spadro road and Truslow avenue, in Fullerton, knocking the car across the intersection and throwing his wife violently to the pavement, injuries to Mrs. Bell are set forth as bad bruises and cuts on her arms, legs and body, a fractured rib and shock to her nervous system that has permanently injured her.

Bell claims that prior to the accident his wife was a strong, active woman, enjoying good health, and capable, as a housewife, of earning $75 per month.

Barnhill shot the deer while hunting as a guest of L. O. Fox, prominent Santa Barbara rancher.

NAZARENE COMMITTEE MEETS THIS WEEK TO DISCUSS ITS PLANS FOR COLLEGE IN S. A.

The outlook for the college location to be permanently arranged here is, however, according to the pastor, favorable. Propositions to be considered at the committee meeting this week will doubtless disclose even more satisfactory plans, he believes.

If the college is located here it will change somewhat the plans for the new Nazarene church building which is to be built at the corner of Broadway and Bishop street. A larger auditorium will be erected, the Rev. Mr. Harding informed. He sold the one dwelling on the Bishop street property last week and expects to sell the three duplex houses there this week. That will clear the property in preparation for building.

The double corner was secured for the church so that the building itself will have a set-back of 20 feet to allow for parking facilities.

The church is to face front on Broadway. Its complete educational plant is to be constructed by the C. A. Lansdowne Construction company and will cost $50,000. A $5000 pipe organ, divided into two parts according to the latest model, is to be one feature of the interior equipment.

In an interview, Lansdowne explained his plan of procedure. The building is to be finished in both Italian and Spanish architecture and designed with lofty lines to emphasize the effect of sacredness. Art windows will be used in opalescent glass, with one to have the full length image of the Christ. The main auditorium of the edifice will have a seating capacity of 1000 as planned now, while the educational wing is so planned to care for 300 persons in the Sunday school. Doubtless how-backed pews will be procured to assure the comfort of the church goer.

day morning shimmering on the golden light gold crosses on the two towers which top the main building.

Granite Steps

The entrance to the hospital is up a flight of broad steps of granite which extend across the main part of the structure. On entering the lobby visitors were greeted by the Sisters who conducted small groups through the building. The huge baskets of flowers were especially lovely, each bearing a message of congratulation. At the front of the lobby was a tall basket where autumn leaves and shaggy yellow chrysanthemums were arranged most effectively. Roses of every conceivable shade, gladioli and magnificent dahlias were included in the fall blossoms in the lobby and on the decks and solariums on each floor.

A sepia portrait of the Rev. J. J. Cantwell, Bishop of the Los Angeles and San Diego diocese is hung at the center of the back wall in a small alcove. To the left is a statue of St. Joseph, patron saint of the hospital, and to the right the ambulance entrance, the emergency room, the desk where visitors are received and reception rooms. On the left side of the first floor is a large suite and the lower floor solarium furnished in wicker upholstered with gayly patterned monk's cloth.

Visitors were first conducted to what is really the fifth floor of the building where partially roofed sun porches afford delightful views of the misty blue mountains across the deep green of thousands of orange trees just now putting out slender sprays of pale green new growth. A part of the space has been fitted for a consultation room, which will be above all sound and will furnish a quiet place for deliberation and thought.

An interesting feature of the new hospital is a system of lights for summoning the nurses. Lights are placed over each door which are lighted by the pressure of a button at the patient's bedside. On each floor are office rooms, diet kitchens with small refrigerators and gas ranges.

Maternity Department

On the third floor is the maternity department and the glass enclosed rooms where hundreds of tiny mites of humanity will sleep away the first hours of their earthly existence. Sixteen white basinettes with bows of pink and blue ribbons are placed and beside them are the blue necklaces with the head letters on which will be worked the name of each baby as it is put in its bed. The baby's bath room where the food is prepared joins the nursery. A reception room furnished in birch in an old English design is across from the maternity department.

Private rooms on all of the floors are furnished in walnut or painted furniture. In the former the deep easy chairs are in dark green leather and in the latter the chairs are upholstered in bright monk's cloth. Each room has a dresser, desk, chairs, bed, telephone and radio with ear phones.

The children's rooms on the second and floor are all furnished in painted furniture with happily selected pictures on the walls. Small chairs will give the young convalescents comfortable places to rest. The children's solarium is furnished with small sized chairs, a big oval glass topped table and on one wall is a large painting of happy dancing children.

The corridors are lighted with amber lights which are used in nearly all of the rooms.

The chapel was lighted yesterday to give visitors an opportunity to see the lovely effects of the flood light back of the altar which shows the Assumption mode with Jesus of the Sacred Heart on one side and St. Joseph and the Child on the other. An angel fount of holy water is at the entrance of the chapel.

A silver tray as it will be taken to the patients was arranged yesterday in the kitchen of gleaming white tile and polished nickel. The service will be in silver with the monogram of the hospital on each place.

The big electric dishwasher, the great refrigerators, the aluminum cooking utensils, the electric mixers and the other kitchen equipment which is needed for this institution was of great interest to the men as well as the women who were taken through this department. A meat roaster, a baker and a pressure cooker supplements the three big ranges and the steam tables.

Two of the departments which were of especial interest to the visitors were the three major and three minor surgeries on the third floor and the X-ray rooms on the second floor. Between each surgery is a "scrub-up room," where water is drawn by a pressure of the knee by the physicians who are preparing to operate. The doctors' locker room and waiting room is equipped with showers and book shelves. The furniture is in old carved birch and red leather. The surgeries are tiled in blue-grey, the most modern color.

Benefactors of the hospital who have given $1000 toward its building are: The Rev. H. Eumelen, the Knights of Columbus, Charles Borchard and family, L. M. Banks and family, Frank Borchard and family, Carl J. Klatt and family, Anton Borchard and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Maag sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Borchard, and Raitt's dairy.

Those who have furnished private rooms are Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Stewart, Henry Seidel, Mrs. Marie Degari, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Urbine, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Higgins and Margaret and Verna Belle Maroney.

the board two were from American women, two from the representative of the Mexican consul here, one from a man who wished to visit a prisoner in jail, one from a man who dealt with Carrillo in regard to the entrance of Mexican citizens in the United States, one from the woman for whom he wished to obtain legal entry for, and one from a representative of the Register who observed Carrillo while he was on duty. Two affidavits were given by men who had been in jail and from whom Carrillo was asserted to have tried to collect money.

The Register's investigation of the Carrillo affair began in a natural manner when stories from Mexican people came to this newspaper through its circulation department. Following this development and following the launching of petitions asking a grand jury investigation the Register felt that stories told to it about Carrillo warranted an investigation.

That investigation was begun by interviewing Carrillo himself, who admitted charging two dollars for assisting Mexicans to secure drivers' licenses. The interpreter would make no further statement to the Register.

Believing that the stories uncovered in its investigation warranted such action, the Register went before the board of supervisors and suggested that an investigation be made by that body and that Carrillo be suspended during such action. Carrillo was not suspended and the Register then presented the affidavits which it had collected. Throughout its investigation the Register has been interested primarily in the welfare and fair treatment of the Mexican citizens of Orange county, who form a large part of its population.

The board referred the matter to the district attorney and on his advice ordered that Carrillo be notified to appear tomorrow. This action was taken after the board had held a brief executive session in its committee room.

FILES ACTION FOR $900 ALLEGED DUE

Suit for $900, alleged to be due from the directors of the Snap-O-Stat company, of Anaheim, for services rendered to that company, was filed today in superior court by H. L. Briscoe. The directors named are A. F. Dahl, J. E. Hamlyn and C. C. Lamb.

Briscoe alleges that in a written contract between the directors of the company and himself, which was entered into in January, 1928, the directors agreed, upon sale of the company, to pay him $900 in full payment for services to the company. Briscoe accepted and approved the sale in consideration of this promise on the part of the directors. Payment has not been made, although demand was made, according to Briscoe, and the sale was consummated on Feb. 1, 1928.

The resolution of sale adopted by the directors provided that sale was to be made for the sum of $30,000.

Briscoe alleges that the sale made included the physical assets and the right to manufacture and sell a patented device owned by the corporation, known as Snap-O-Stat, which is an automatic gas regulator.

A WORD OF COMFORT
Take time to be "alone with God." Thinking about Him and talking about Him are no substitutes for living with Him. Association with a person is necessary for real acquaintance and understanding. It transmits words; it creates sympathy; it develops capacity for co-operation; it enlarges your power of receptivity. You can not get along without what God alone can give you. You are incapable of receiving what He gives unless you devote time.

JAIL DRIVER ON RUM CHARGE AS CRASH RESULT

Eight persons were injured, several seriously, in six automobile accidents reported in Orange county over the week end. One man was arrested, following an accident, and is being held in the county jail on a liquor charge.

Fred C. Allen, 35, lawyer, residing at 1030 Salt Lake street, Long Beach, was severely injured at 7:20 p. m. last night, when he was struck by an automobile, while attempting to repair a tire. The accident occurred one mile west of Westminster, on Seventeenth street. Allen suffered fractures of both legs one of which was amputated in a Long Beach hospital last night, according to D. D. Adams, of the state traffic department, who made an investigation.

Look For Second Man
The driver of the car which struck Allen was Francisco Vega, 55, of Westminster, who was arrested and is being held in the county jail here on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Officers also are looking for another man, said to have been with Vega at the time of the accident, but who were not found when the police arrived at the scene of the crash.

Allen, with his wife and son and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lybarger, of 1339 Orange avenue, Long Beach, was returning to Long Beach at the time. Lybarger also was out of the machine, standing at one side. He was not injured. No one in the car was reported hurt. Passing motorists took Allen to the Community hospital, in Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wheeler, of 116 East Fern street, Redlands, were reported injured at 3:30 Saturday afternoon, when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a truck owned by Bruce Brothers, Huntington Beach, and driven by Fred Bland, also of Huntington Beach. The accident occurred one mile east of Atwood. They were taken to the Fullerton General hospital, where their injuries were reported as not serious. No one riding on the truck was reported injured. Ole Buer, state traffic officer, investigated the accident.

Colored Couple Injured
A colored boy and girl were injured at 1:50 this morning at East First street and the Santa Fe tracks when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train, leaving the Santa Ana station.

Gladys Coleman, 17, 1376 East Twenty-first street, Los Angeles, suffered a broken left leg and cuts about the face and head, and Raymond Cloud, 22, driver of the machine, suffered a severe bump on the head. Both were taken to the Orange County hospital, where it was said their injuries were not of a serious nature.

Cloud was driving his machine west on First street at the time of the accident and did not see the approach of the train, according to a report made to the police department by Conductor Kelley, in charge of the train.

Officer Prichard, of the Santa Ana police department, who investigated, reported that the car driven by Cloud was carried for 135 feet down the tracks by the force of the collision.

Charles Martinez, of Los Alamitos today was in the Orange County hospital suffering from a fractured pelvis as the result of an automobile accident in Hawaiian Gardens yesterday afternoon, according to a hospital report. There were five persons in the machine when it overturned, but Martinez was the only one reported injured.

Two Women Hurt
Two women were slightly injured at 12:30 p. m. Sunday, when the automobile in which they were riding with Arthur Carruthers, of 1529 West Sixth street, Aberdeen, Wn., was struck by a truck three miles south of Tustin, according to an accident report filed at the sheriff's office by Carruthers.

Carruthers reported that the driver of the truck said his brakes were not good. He reported that the truck crashed into the rear of his machine, throwing the occupants against the top. Mrs. Anne Rising and Miss Ruth Rising were injured.

Charles F. Gillogly, Orange, reported to the Santa Ana police department last night that his machine ran down a youth on a bicycle at Main and Edinger streets at 5:15 p. m. yesterday. The boy was not hurt and left the scene of the accident before his name could be secured, Gillogly reported. The youth's bicycle was damaged.

In a heavy fog Sunday morning about 6 o'clock Irvin H. Sandler, 1770 East Broadway, Long Beach, and Dan B. Balmer, 83 Venilia place, Long Beach, were slightly cut and bruised when the cars they were driving collided on the Coast highway at Fifth street, Seal Beach.

$397,000 DISTRIBUTED THUS FAR TO LEMON GROWERS BY ASSOCIATION IN VILLA PARK

With distribution of $132,000 under way today, the Central Lemon association, in Villa Park, had passed to its grower members a total of $397,000, according to a statement today by Roy Runnells, secretary-manager of the lemon organization.

At the same time the manager said that the association had but fifteen carloads left for shipment before the close of the season, on October 31. Lemon prices since June have been more than satisfactory and the demand has been good, the manager observed. An instance of the demand for lemons was evidenced by the recent sale of fruit at public auction at prices ranging as high as $18 a box.

Prices were very low at the opening of the lemon season, but Runnells said that the average for the season has been satisfactory to growers and packing house managers. Runnells declared that the final distribution to growers would be made by his association around the middle of December.

The setting for the wedding was a beautifully decorated chancel. Pampas grass plumes, in abundance, with asparagus ferns, smilax and many large baskets of choice dahlias, the predominating colors being pink, pale yellow and shades of rose, formed the decorations.

The bride's dress was of beautiful white satin, combined with silk tulle. She carried a bouquet of white asters.

Mrs. Grov S. Brown sang "O Perfect Love" by Dorothy Blomfield. Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. P. M. Thompson, organist, was the final number.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hunter, parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wellington, parents of the groom and twenty-eight relatives were special guests at the wedding. MERCHANT MARINE PROSPERITY AID

SAN CLEMENTE, Sept. 16.—Continued American prosperity lies in the development of an American owned merchant marine. Such development cannot come until there is interest in shipping and that interest must come from the younger generation as the older has already turned thumbs down on such a proposition.

This was the message delivered to San Clemente Kiwanians and visiting service men by Lieut. Com. Thomas Keane, national Sea Scout director. Keane told of the work of his organization, how Sea Scout clubs had given the youth of the land who had outgrown Boy Scout age a new outlook and acquainted them with American marine problems. Eighty per cent of American shipping in the World war, he said, was carried in American ships. Today only 30 per cent of American products are exported in American owned craft. He stated he believed that soon Sea Scout progress would find more Americans becoming interested in a United States marine.

FULLERTON, Sept. 16.—Four hundred and seventy-two cars of citrus fruit were sent out by the northern Orange county district last week.

Prices on the larger sizes were good while prices on the 28's and smaller were weaker. Large supplies of 324's were flooding the markets from some sections, causing the prices on this size to lower considerably. A decreasing number of the larger sizes causes these grades to rise in some sections.

The Northern Orange County Citrus exchange shipped 290 cars of valencias and 10 cars of lemons during the past week, according to Dale R. King, local sales manager. Fullerton houses sent out 131 cars of valencias.

W. B. WILLIAMS WILL HEAD SPECIAL SUBSCRIPTION BODY IN MASONIC TEMPLE DRIVE

Nearly 40 per cent of the $200,000 building fund which is to make possible a new Masonic temple in Santa Ana, will be raised by members of a special subscription committee, of which W. B. Williams, well known Santa Ana banker, has been appointed chairman, it was announced today.

Commenting on the formation of a special subscription group, George S. Smith, general campaign chairman, explained that there are many Santa Ana Masons who are in a position to subscribe larger than average sums to the building fund. It will be the duty of the special group to interview and accept the subscriptions from these Masons.

W. B. Williams long has been active in Masonic affairs in Santa Ana, although his Blue Lodge Masonic membership is in Orange.

The argument that a carefully prepared income tax is the most equitable tax ever yet devised, advanced by Stanley M. Powell, manager of Ingleside farm, Iona, Mich., has been given much space in the press throughout the United States and is of special interest here in Santa Ana, where the young man's uncle, the Rev. Herman J. Powell, resides at 2002 Valencia street.

Stanley M. Powell, a graduate of Michigan State college, was a state farm bureau organizer and lecturer until three years ago, when he assumed the management of Ingleside farm when his father, Herbert E. Powell, a brother of the Santa Ana minister, was appointed as state commissioner of agriculture for Michigan.

His ideas on taxation were advanced at the meeting, last week, of the National Tax association, at Saranac Lake, N. Y., where he explained that the general property tax pinches the farmer, the city home owner and the renter alike. He further advocated three steps toward obtaining relief in local government, adoption of administrative reforms and prevention of duplication in the functions of various units and offices; improved machinery for the administration of the general property tax, and acceptance by the state, to a large extent, of the responsibility of financing highways and schools, relieving local units of this responsibility.

Trips to various big stores will enable the class members to see new furnishings and it is hoped that this year's enrollment may experience the same good fortune that befell last, that of having a member whose home was under construction and which was visited by the class throughout its development. This class will meet each Friday, from 2 to 4:40 p. m., in room 255 of the science building, Parton and Walnut streets. While registration at the college opened today, to continue to Thursday, the opening day of the classes, such registration is not

Court action was begun Saturday by the Apping Collection agency to collect on a six-month note for $500 said to have been given to Daisy F. Carroll, March 16, 1925, and on which only interest payments are said to have been made. The complaint asks judgment for $542, balance due, plus interest, attorney's fees and costs.

Alleging cruel and inhuman treatment, Selma B. Bonner has instituted divorce proceedings against H. Ralph Bonner. The complaint, filed in superior court Saturday, recites that her husband found fault with her without provocation and incessantly nagged and called her vile names. The complaint further recites that the husband frequently accused her of associating and flirting with other men and on several occasions struck her.

The last official actions of Judge E. J. Marks, as Orange county superior court judge, included the appointment of Frank B. Champion as guardian of the estate of Jessie G. Harwood, an incompetent person, on the petition of Carrie M. Young, and the entry of judgment in the amount of $1523.04 in favor of Ernest C. Chapman against Paul Tarylen.

Final judgment of divorce was entered today by Judge James L. Allen for Freda Stewart against Joseph P. Stewart.

Probation orders were filed today by Judge James L. Allen in the cases of Bennie Steiner and Ross Cole. Steiner, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of grand theft, was given probation for a period of two years provided he first serves one year in the county jail. Steiner took a car from Seal Beach for a trip to San Francisco with his sweetheart, according to a confession he made to San Francisco officers. Cole, who was up on a charge of non-support, was given probation for a similar term with a provision of a six-month sentence in the county jail. The jail sentence was suspended and Cole was ordered to report to the court on March 1.

A Message to Underweight Men and Women

The one supremely good health building tonic that is also the one great weight producer known to modern science the country over is McCoy's Tablets.

They build flesh where flesh is needed—sunken cheeks, neck and chest—and many a man and woman, skinny and scrawny have thanked McCoy's after a few weeks' treatment for the decided improvement in looks and figure.

Many times the increase in weight is astonishing—one exceedingly thin woman gained 10 pounds in 25 days.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—their druggist is authorized to return the purchase price—Adv.

SPECIAL J. C. ADULT CLASSES ARE ANNOUNCED

Not all the excitement of the annual opening of the city schools was confined, today, to the boys and girls of the community, but adults were equally interested in some of the junior college courses, especially those in home economics, taught by Miss Myrtle Hurt, and open to women of the community. Of outstanding importance was considered the course in interior decoration and home planning, as well as that in clothing, both under Miss Hurt's direction.

The practical value of the interior decoration and house planning course will be appreciated by any woman with a home or contemplating the building or buying of a home. It deals with such matters as the finish of walls, floors and woodwork, color and its use, draperies, furniture arrangement and similar problems connected with the home keeper. Considerable attention will be given to individual problems which students face in their homes, according to Miss Hurt.

SOME EXPANSION!

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—Henry Colwell was strolling down the avenue and people remarked that "there is a well built young man." Colwell's chest was thrown out in a large arc. But police were suspicious. They stopped the gentleman and investigated. They found two large hot water bottles filled with moonshine under his coat, they say.

In Fall Suits— Handsome is as handsome does —before the mirror

For a suit to be good looking on a hanger means something, but the looking-glass test is everything. So great are these suits in style that salesmanship is easily and can nicely be omitted. You'll like the display as it appears in its cabinets—you'll like the coats better on your own shoulders—you'll see yourself as others have never seen you—and you'll sell yourself a suit—wait and see.

It has been brought to our attention that many contestants, and voters, too, are of the opinion that there is to be only one prize awarded in the Majestic Popularity Contest—Such is not the case, for there are to be two Beautiful Majestic Radios awarded, the first, a handsome Highboy model, to the girl scoring the highest number of votes, and the second, a slightly smaller model, to the girl scoring second highest—

Maralee Dollahite, Telephone company employee, is the latest entry in the Majestic Contest and her nomination ballot was accompanied by enough votes to give her a

"WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD"

Verdict of Woman Who Tried Pinkham's Compound

Tully, N. Y.—"It hurt me to walk or sit down without help and I felt sick and weak. My mother-in-law took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she induced me to take it. I am now on the fourth bottle and have also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative V. sh. The medicines that will do for me what the Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done are certainly worth their weight in gold. I think I have given them a fair trial and I expect to take two more bottles of the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. CHARLES MORGAN, R. F. D. 1, Tully, N. Y.

THEY'RE ON THEIR TOES

Flo Comito (left) and Lucille Gisler are two contestants in the Majestic Radio Popularity Contest who are on their toes and pushing the present leaders. Day by day the vote totals for these popular young misses are growing and both are confident that when the final count is made they will be on the top of the heap.

Total, today, of 12,750— That isn't all, however, for we have 'inside' information that her standing tomorrow will show a great increase in votes—

Glen A. Litten, well known Santa Ana and Orange radio technician, has gone to San Diego, where, we are informed, he is to become identified with Station KFSD. As technical director—Litten had been technician at station KMTR, in Hollywood, for several months prior to his accepting the position. With the San Diego station—Litten started experimenting with radio in 1918 and at one time operated the most powerful short wave station in Orange county, communicating with stations in all parts of the world—He is believed to have been the first amateur in California to have communicated with 'Hams' in Chile, South America—

OPERA STARS ON PROGRAM FOR GMC

Excerpts from the greatest operas by Wagner, Meyerbeer and other masters will feature the program of the General Motors Family party, heard tonight between 5:30 and 6:30 o'clock, P. M. T. by the nationwide audience of NBC system stations, including KFI.

Armand Tokatyan, tenor; Alda Doninelli, soprano; Dorothea Flaxer, contralto, and George Cehanovsky, baritone, all of the Metropolitan Opera company, will be the vocal soloists.

Description of the impressive cathedral pageant as it is written in Meyerbeer's "Coronation March" from "Le Prophete" will greet the audience during the opening selection. Another outstanding interpretation will be the "Secret of Suzanne" overture, a gay and melodious tone picture by Wolf-Ferrari. "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman" is the Offenbach contribution to be given exposition by soloists and orchestra under Gennaro Papil's baton. The Wagner number is the beloved "Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger."

Edison Hour Will Present Favorite Howard Melodies

Favorite melodies of the Rt. Hon. Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, will be played for a nationwide audience during the Edison program, broadcast through the NBC system, including KFI, today between 5 and 5:30, Pacific standard time.

One of Sir Esme's special favorites is the great "Prize Song" from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," which will be heard as a violin solo with orchestral accompaniment.

It is suggested to contestants and voters that they vote their coupons at the place where they are received. It will simplify matters for the tabulators if Fox-West Coast coupons are deposited in the ballot boxes of the theaters where they are secured. The same applies to the 500-vote and 10,000-vote coupons issued by Majestic dealers. Coupons clipped from the daily issues of this paper may be voted in any ballot box.

From now on the contest will become hot and it is a case of all contestants working harder than ever. No opportunity for the securing of votes can be overlooked at this stage of the contest. With the way that some of the contestants are going it will be necessary for every entrant to gather every possible vote and deposit it in a ballot box as soon as possible.

Is Beige Crepe . . . The Fur, Beaver.

AUTUMN, 1929, is to be a season of styles as full of pitfalls for the unwary woman as the proverbial flirtatious feminine race is for the unwary male.

There is much choice to be had in the way of berthas, flounces, boleros, scarfs, jabots, fichus, tabs, petals, billowing ruffles and fluttering panels. A woman must know her height, width, hip-measure and proportionate waistline before she is safe in her choice of clothes.

Stripes, plaids and embroidery trimming offer more ways of falling from the paths of chic. They may make a woman look slender and charming when appropriately selected. But they can make a woman look terrible, too. The fur trimming introduced this fall is equally dangerous. No stout woman should ever choose the trim that widens sleeves, widens collars and makes coats look more voluminous. These are for the chosen, those slender figures that can stand and carry proudly the unusual trim.

There is new bulk in the making of evening modes. But that does not for a minute mean that women inside these gowns should increase their own bulk. Far from it. The slender figure, albeit it has curves, is the one to cultivate.

Waistlines are more important than they have been since the slenderizing craze hit America and the pencil figure was the envy of all hearts. It is not enough, however, merely to mark the waist line. Paris suggests it, by unusual girdle effects, by princess cut, by peplum motifs and other intricate designs.

I. FOR evening Bernard creates this charmingly simple frock that embodies the spirit of change that fall brings in. It is of pale green georgette, with its bodice slightly fitted to suggest a normal waistline over which a belt is fastened with an ornamental strass buckle. This model has a modest rounded neck in front but a low one in the back.

The frock's silhouette is slightly princess with two deep flounces of intricate cut that rise in the back to fall in folds as long side trains clear to the floor. The front of these flounces are in folds, too, introducing that increased bulk in fabric which is one of fashion's new whims.

II. WHEN cold days come and the fur coat feels good once more, velvet skull-turbans will be in their glory. These little hats are a combination of the best points of the turban, the beret and the toque. This one from Reboux, imported by Henri Bendel, New York, is of burgundy velvet, with a flower trim on the sides of velvet ranging from soft old rose, through several wine shades to burgundy. This hat, like many of the winter ones, is high off the forehead, to capitalize the eyes which are of increasing importance with the new styles.

III. JENNY creates this new ensemble with original trimmings of fur and embroidery. As usual, Jenny's model breathes youth in its line and trim.

This model is of beige tricot for the coat.

embroidered in various colors with a bit of orange and rust mingling in the beige and browns. Flounces of beaver are attached to the sleeves above the elbow with the sleeve itself coming out from under this luxurious trim with a deep cuff of the rich embroidery. The collar of beaver is chic in its height and lack of width.

The skirt of this suit is of matching beige crepe, pleated across the front from the waistline. The sweater that fits down over it is of beige tricot, with the front cutaway from the waistline to show the skirt's pleats. Its neck and sleeves are finished with a single line of embroidery.

IV. PARIS has always preferred black to any color for formal daytime wear. Therefore, significant is this Martial and Armand basque frock in black crepe de chine.

It has a new basque effect which is a graduated peplum that rises in the front to a high waistline and swings to low depth in the back. The waist blouses slightly above it, all around. The sleeves are cut in one with the dress and fine handwork decorates the front of it as it does the belt above the basque. Touches of white, with hems of fagotting, decorate it.

The skirt has fine rows of fagotting running up to a point in front, much the same as the belt of the frock lines upwards. Below the hipline a pleated flounce takes the same upwards course, giving much fullness when Milady walks but hanging in narrow, slender lines when she is in repose.

V. MARTIAL and Armand created this mousseline print formal afternoon frock, distinguished chiefly for the cut of its sleeves. The material is a design of wild roses and sprays of green leaves against a white background. The sleeves are cutaway from the bodice under the arms and then joined together to fashion cape sleeves that end in long cuffs, buttoning with pearl buttons clear to the elbows.

The bodice laces up the front and ties its batteau neck with little strings of the material, hand-sewn. There is a plain colored mousseline girdle that ties in a sash bow in the back, after being shirred in simple and charming manner under each arm. This is in the pink of the roses. Several panels of fullness swing over a skirt that is cut in points and is much longer in the back.

VI. FASCINATING for its new line and fabric is this ensemble from Nicole Groult, with a sleeveless coat of checkered fabric over a plain crepe frock collared and cuffed in the checks.

The coat's material is beige wool checked in red of two shades. The frock is buttoned down the front with red flat buttons and has an incrustation of the coat's bright mixture on it, as well as scarf collar and narrow cuffs. The coat, in turn, has incrustations of the plain fabric of the frock for its pockets.

BEACH CITY'S HISTORY FROM BEGINNING TOLD

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—Sunset Beach is a little community just starting on its growth. Into its short history has been written the story of a fortune in coast lots earned through the upbuilding of a community. The locality, not yet incorporated as a city, is declared destined to a rapid increase in population and in popularity as a beach city.

Sunset Beach was purchased in 1904 by a syndicate of 10 men, who incorporated the Sunset Beach holding company, known as the Sunset Land and Water company. The tract consisted of 125 acres of sand dunes and canals of water ways and was sold to the corporation at the price of $47,000. The company was incorporated for $150,000 and all of the stock was issued.

Selling Started
In 1905, a selling campaign was organized, resulting in the sale of $80,000 worth of town lots, and during the following year, $60,000 in sales were added to the total. For the next several years sales amounted to only $40,000 and in 1912 the property was sold to the South Coast Improvement company for $55,000, with a cash payment in all of $20,000. This company sold $60,000 worth of town lots on the main land, and developed $60,000 worth of new property on what is known as tract No. 21, after which their activities ceased.

This company sold control of the company after several years of inactivity, and the new management, failing to make a success of the enterprise, defaulted in the payment of the mortgage, which was foreclosed in 1920 by the Sunset Land and Water company, and redeemed at a cost of $40,000, including interest and court expense.

A sales campaign was launched in 1922 with the result to date of about $150,000 in sales since the property was redeemed under foreclosure.

At the time of the first sales campaign there were no roads leading to Sunset Beach, the only means of approach being supplied by the Pacific Electric railway.

The regular round trip fare at the time was 75 cents from Los Angeles. By guaranteeing a given number of rides the land company was enabled to secure round trip fares at the price of 25 cents from Los Angeles for excursions run during the sales campaigns.

Roads Secured
The crying need of a road elicited the interest of some of the public spirited residents and after the first flush of interest was shown in the community, these few set to work to secure rights of way and petition the board of supervisors for relief. This was followed by improvement of a road leading the length of Sunset Beach, only, by which a conveyance could enter at the south end, now known as Los Patos, travel to the north end, then turn back the way it came. This condition emphasized the need of an outlet to the north, after long and concerted effort a right of way was secured to the county, when the board of supervisors surfaced this road with dirt. The growing need of a coast road leading south was soon impressed on the traveling public as it was also on the residents of the coast communities, and after further effort rights of way were secured and a dirt surface road was opened to Huntington Beach by the board of supervisors.

This road supplied an urgent need as long as the surfacing remained unbroken, but the traffic soon broke through the dirt surface and the fact that the grade was below the average grade of the surrounding sand, allowed so much drifting over the road that it became practically of no service to the public.

Highway Built
Measures have already been adopted with a view to securing construction of a permanent cement highway, through Orange county, and as a result of the activities of the South Coast Improvement association, the county board of supervisors had evolved a plan under which this highway improvement could be accomplished. The World war was responsible for delaying operations under the county plan and after the close of the war the sponsors of this highway, through concerted effort, secured a budget in the last forty million dollars highway bond issue, by which four million dollars were to be set aside for construction of the Coast highway from Oxnard in Ventura county to Serra in Orange county.

The story of the progress of the work is now open history. As the contracts were completed along the way each community enjoyed a season of prosperity as traffic was permitted to enter with the opening of each section.

With the fight for a highway won and the highway completed, Sunset Beach was started on its way to prosperity and development, to activity and speedy growth which is everywhere apparent today.

Bus Service Is Given Children Of Sunset Beach

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—With an all year resident population of slightly over 500, Sunset Beach has preferred to avail itself of the excellent elementary school and high school at Huntington Beach and has preferred to remain as a part of the Huntington Beach school districts. These districts, with tax wealth of over $300,000 in each district, maintain as fine schools as are to be found in California or any state.

Bus service is provided to and from Sunset Beach for all school children of every age, the busses making the short runs of a few miles in a few minutes and bringing the schools close to the children. Sunset Beach has helped to build the schools and now that the district has grown strong financially, this city is remaining in the district.

GUN CLUB PAYS HUGE PROFITS FROM OIL WELLS

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—Some of the most famous gun clubs for Los Angeles millionaires in the state are located at the community limits of Sunset Beach. Among these is the Bolsa Chico Gun club. This club, with its subsidiary organization, the Chico Land company, holds title to 1,600 acres of land, stretching from Sunset Beach to Huntington Beach, a distance of five miles along the coast of the Pacific ocean and running inland for a half to a mile from the beach.

Much of the Bolsa Chico land is beach land and land bordering a wide, deep lagoon. On the eastern and northern side of the lagoon are bluffs and low hills. Near Sunset Beach the Bolsa Chico company holds one of the most beautiful sites in California for a magnificent hotel and resort. The gun club property contains some 42 producing oil wells and the revenue from the wells is enormous.

Memberships High
Organized for pleasure only, the Bolsa Chico Gun club has been highly profitable and has enriched the original members. Memberships are said to have sold for as high as $50,000 each. None are for sale. Of the original memberships, 10 are now held by estates, the heirs of the old hunters and fishermen who founded the club, enjoying the rich oil royalties from the Bolsa Chico holdings.

The oil lease is held by the Standard Oil company and when it was made eight or nine years ago the gun club members inserted a clause that the Standard Oil company could never drill the swamp lands near the duck ponds without first obtaining written permission from the board of directors of the gun club.

This clause was designed to protect the ducks and fish against being disturbed by oil drilling, or if oil was struck to protect against oil on the waters.

The lease also provides that the Standard Oil company must keep two strings of tools in operation on the premises, meaning two wells drilling at all times. This has been done over a period of eight years or more, and as a result wells have been drilled month after month, each well adding its store of wealth.

Big Hotel Seen
During the past few seasons duck hunting has been poor at the club preserves and the wealthy members, mostly progressive business men, have often discussed at their club meetings the advisability of turning the northwest portion of the land holdings into a great beach resort with a hotel such as are built in famous resorts, capable of housing many hundreds of guests.

W. H. Keller, with offices in the Pacific Mutual building in Los Angeles, is president of the Bolsa Chico Gun club. Col. J. A. Poole, of Pasadena, with offices in the Security bank building in that city, is a prominent member. There are only 49 memberships in the club and the place is maintained simply for the entertainment and amusement of the members. Instead of paying dues to this club, the members collect dividends, and it is said to be one of the state's richest gun clubs.

MANY SUNSET BEACH RESIDENCES LOCATED AT WATER'S EDGE

Below are shown residences and business block in Sunset Beach. Inset is of J. A. Armitage, pioneer resident of the community and one of its most active citizens.

HIGHWAY WORK EXPLAINED BY BEACH GUEST

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—Peter Paul Hofer, resident manager of the Old Mission Gun club in Baja California, is spending a few days with his friend, Chris Christensen, at Chris' cafe in Sunset Beach on the Coast highway. The Old Mission Gun club has 14,000 acres under lease until 1943 with an option of a 10-year extension. Behind the gun club estate lies 60,000 acres of government land over which the gun club members may shoot and hike. It is American owned and operated and is on the highway between Tia Juana and Ensenada.

Mr. Hofer stated that plans were fast maturing for the completion of the Coast highway as a paved highway across Lower California and Mexico and on along the coast through Central America to South America. He stated that the Mexican government had provided for the funds to pave the highway the entire length of Baja California.

Several Central American governments have also provided the funds for the highway project. Mr. Hofer stated. Work is actually under way in several localities and within the next year he expects to see great activity toward completing the project.

California, Washington and Oregon auto clubs, he said, are lending valuable aid by keeping the project alive before the various governments which are to cooperate in the project.

When completed, this vast highway, a paved border against the Pacific beach across two continents, will be the world's most wonderful highway. Mr. Hofer declared. He predicted that it would be possible to travel from Seattle to South America over a paved highway within the next four to five years, with suitable taverns along the wonder road for the accommodation of motorists. "Sunset Beach," he said, "will of course be on the road."

WESTMINSTER
WESTMINSTER, Sept. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Grandy have been entertaining two groups of guests. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas E. Thorne of Hanford, visited here as they were motoring through on a vacation spent at the beaches. Douglass Thorne is a cousin of Mrs. Grandy.

Mrs. A. L. Pease made a more extended visit in the Grandy home last Thursday, two former Missouri friends, Mrs. Eliza Parsons of Riverside, and her sister, Mrs. Lucia Francis, of Oakland, in the party were Mrs. Parsons' two daughters from Riverside, Mrs. Gertrude Bircher and Mrs. George McCall.

Mrs. Clara Miller who has been staying with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Loomis, returned Thursday to her home in Long Beach.

Municipal Water Provided Sunset By Artesian Wells

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—Municipal water is furnished the community from artesian wells 450 feet deep. The water is pumped into a large tank and from the tank is led into the homes in the city through gravity lines. The water supply is apparently inexhaustible.

The community is provided with gas and electric lights at a very low cost.

SUNSET BEACH DEVELOPED BY J. A. ARMITAGE

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—The story of Sunset Beach is a story about J. A. Armitage. Armitage was the original purchaser of the present site of Sunset Beach. He promoted the townsite and afterward disposed of it to a syndicate.

Amassing a comfortable fortune from his investments in the attractive beach locality that he practically founded and developed, he continued to make his home in the city and is at present actively engaged in the real estate business.

Armitage enlisted the help of the entire coast from Long Beach to San Juan Capistrano in securing the Coast highway between Long Beach and Serra on the coast near San Juan Capistrano. In the South Coast association he had an ally and supporter and finally after years of work got his highway project and other projects beneficial to his city and the south coast, brought to fruition.

GARDEN GROVE
GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 16.—Mrs. J. V. Kelsey attended the meeting of the state board of managers, California P. T. A. congress, in Los Angeles Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. William Dales attended the dahlia show in Los Angeles Thursday.

Mrs. Leavitt Ford and Miss Isabel Northcross spent Thursday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Mettie Moas, of Belvedere Gardens, is spending a few days in the home of her brother, J. G. Allen.

MANY HOUSES ERECTED AT SUNSET BEACH THIS SEASON

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—The past summer has seen the greatest expansion and growth in the construction of new homes of any three months' period in the 25 years since the city was first laid out, it was disclosed today. During June there were constructed residences and beach cottages costing $20,000. In July, new dwellings were erected in the city totaling $12,000 in cost. In August the new residences and beach cottages cost $15,000 to complete.

At the present time there are being erected six summer cottages costing $6,000, two cottages costing $2,000 each, one cottage costing $2,500 and one cottage costing $6,500.

In all dwellings to cost a total of $19,000 are in course of construction, all projected during September.

SUNSET BEACH
SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Van L. White and their children have returned from Cuyamaca lake in San Diego county, where they have been enjoying a vacation. Mr. White is one of the proprietors of White Brothers' drug store and general store on the Coast highway.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Galle have left on a motor trip to Buffalo, N. Y., to visit Mr. Galle's mother, whom he has not seen for several years. Mr. Galle is in the painting and decorating business in Sunset Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Drake and their children have taken a bungalow in Los Angeles for the winter in order that their children may return to the Los Angeles schools. The family will occupy their Sunset Beach home each week end.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Fuerstein, of Hollywood, have established themselves in their hunting lodge and tents on the lagoon shore and for the fall fishing. "Art" Fuerstein has a novel occupation. He builds "props" for the movie studios, turning a cigar box into a toy train to changing a net poodle dog into a raging lion.

L. D. White and family have returned from their vacation spent at Lake Arrowhead. Mr. White is one of the proprietors of White Brothers store on the Coast highway at Sunset Beach.

J. Ware, of Imperial valley has come to Sunset Beach for the ocean baths for the benefit of his health. He is stopping at the beach auto camp for the winter.

BOLSA
BOLSA, Sept. 16.—One hundred and forty pupils have enrolled in the Bolsa school in the first four grades. Those of the four higher grades attend school in Garden Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth visited Mrs. Farnsworth's brother, Bert Howard, and family, at Escondido and attended the grape festival and the play, "Felicita."

Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth were among a group of relatives of Mrs. Al Lipscomb who invaded her home on Lemon Heights Wednesday evening to assist her in the celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Elmer Radford has been visiting in Los Angeles since last Tuesday as he is on vacation from the oil fields.

Miss Margaret Gardner, who last June graduated from the Garden Grove high school, has entered junior college in Santa Ana.

tending the G.A.R. encampment at Pacific Palisades the past 10 days.

Leslie Parks, of Stockton is visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Parks.

O. C. Larsen has sold his 60-acre alfalfa ranch in Antelope valley to August and Frank Anderson, of this place. August Anderson intends to make his home on the ranch.

CLUB HOLDINGS HINDER GROWTH OF BEACH CITY

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—Some of the big land holdings of Orange county are hemming Sunset Beach in on two sides. These large holdings are mostly the property of hunting and fishing clubs, popularly known as gun clubs. The shooting and fishing preserves are posted against poachers and the general public. Game birds are fed on the club grounds and ducks are protected except in open season.

Probably this region is the best shooting area to be found between Los Angeles and San Diego, harboring more water fowl in season and affording better shooting from boats and off shore at the lagoons. When the gun club members shoot over their preserves the birds are driven in to the open lagoons near Sunset Beach and become targets for anybody and everybody. During game season, Sunset Beach fills up with hunters and they usually find good sport.

Army of Hunters
Eventually the game birds will be driven to more remote regions as the hunters become more numerous and the wild fowl less plentiful and more wary each season. During the 1929 water fowl season the constant bombardment of the birds on the gun club grounds and the army of shooters along the Sunset Beach lagoons where public shooting is permissible, drove the ducks and all water fowl out to sea.

The shore line off Sunset Beach was a sight to see. Many thousands of water fowl played off shore, too far out for the guns to reach and yet close enough to make an interesting spectacle as they played in the salt water. But as will fowl cannot spend all the time in salt water, it is not likely at many game birds will try to winter in this area within a few more years.

Plan Subdivisions
With the passing of the game birds the big hunting preserves will have served their purpose and will be subdivided and put on the market in small tracts, it is believed. The land is not all fit for farm land or stock raising. Most of it will make attractive home sites near the beach and bordering the lagoons. There are many thousands acres of this land to come on the market in the next few years. With its settlement will come the development of Sunset Beach on a major scale.

A large number of wealthy men are members of the gun clubs and as such are interested in the lands about Sunset Beach that are some day to be available as subdivisions or for the promoting of coast territory colonies and settlements. It is almost certain that there will be capital available for the purpose when the time comes for Sunset Beach to spread out around the lagoons and across the swamp lands that are now used only as feeding or nesting spots for wild fowl.

Mrs. Caroline Brasher of Oakland, has arrived to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Norma LaRue, of Anaheim.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Loop, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Tredd and children, Rose and Junior, of Virginia City, were guests in the C. F. Santhoff home Sunday.

CYPRESS
CYPRESS, Sept. 16.—Mrs. M. L. Freeman visited in the home of her son, Glenn Layman and family, in Los Angeles recently.

Mrs. J. C. Peck and family have moved into the Woodmanse property south of P. E. station.

The Cypress school opened Tuesday with W. M. Carver, of Anaheim, as principal; Mrs. Alice Williamson of Katella, intermediate and Mrs. Howard Strange of Lincoln avenue the primary teacher.

A $200 carry-all that will hold 40 children has been added to the playground equipment.

Miss Lilly Palmer entertained with a party dance in the home of her parents Saturday. About 50 people attended. The color scheme was carried out in red and yellow. Refreshments of sand-

CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY SEEN FOR DISTRICT

SUNSET BEACH, Sept. 16.—The Coast highway through Sunset Beach is to be widened to 100 feet. Negotiations are being conducted for the purchase of abutting frontage sufficient to give the added width and actual highway construction should be well under way within the next few months, it was declared today. The state has agreed to construct bulkheads of concrete or concrete walls, as they would be in this instance, along both sides of the lagoon for the entire distance that the lagoon parallels the state highway through Sunset Beach, a distance of about a mile.

Plan Lagoon Walls
The broadening of the Coast highway through the city and the construction of lagoon walls beside the highway (one of the walls would form a sidewalk along the highway) would make what is now an unsightly section of Sunset Beach one of the beauty spots of the entire Coast highway between Seattle and San Diego, residents declare.

J. A. Armitage, of Sunset Beach, stated today that the negotiations for additional frontage on the highway practically have been completed. As soon as the formality of turning this property over to the state highway commission has been concluded and the engineers complete details of their plans, the widening of the highway will begin, he said. "The work should be fully completed within this biennial period," Armitage added.

Growth Seen
It is doubtful if any improvement since the plotting of Sunset Beach has had a more important bearing on the development of the locality than will result from the widening of the highway and the construction of lagoon bulkheads.

The lagoons about Sunset Beach are deep enough for pleasure boating and it is provided for that the construction of the walls will not lessen the depth of the lagoons. Sunset Beach affords opportunity for a bubbly closer residence to the salt water than any spot in Orange county. Along the broad, deep lagoons the building lots for residences reach the shores of the lagoons. When the highway is broadened, beautiful homes will stretch along the lagoon, facing the broad highway, with the strip of water between. Boathouses artistically constructed, housing pleasure craft, and garages housing the autos for transportation over land, will make Sunset Beach lagoon residence lots sought after by people of wealth who can fully afford to construct the type of homes suited to the environment and maintain the luxuries the location will permit.

Ocean at Door
At the ocean front in Sunset Beach homes are built so close to the water front that when the tide is in the waves break almost against the front porches. At many of the homes "breakfast nooks" are quaint little canopied porches just off the front steps of the home. Sand floors of these breakfast rooms are washed daily by the sea between meal times. For six months of the year many residents of Sunset Beach take their meals in these out-door dining quarters. Stoves or fireplaces are built in a corner and it is possible to give beach parties and steak balt there.

DRASTIC PRICE SLASH MADE IN DUNLOP TIRES

Drastic slashes in the prices of Dunlop tires, handled here exclusively by the El Corral Motor station, 210 North Birch street, were announced today by Paul Witmer, proprietor.

A change in policy, resulting in the establishment of Dunlop chain stores throughout the nation, which will sell tires directly from factory to consumer, thus eliminating "middle man" profits and operating costs, has cut Dunlop prices 35 per cent, according to Witmer.

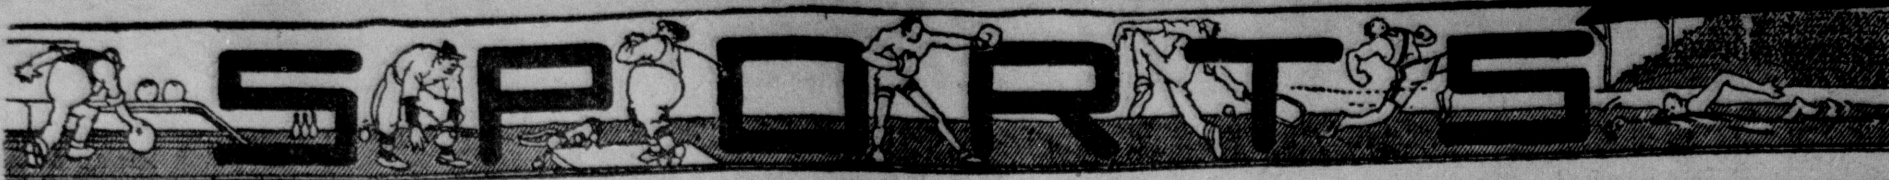

Dunlop, Witmer explained, has done away with the use of all salesmen, jobbers, retailers, expensive central warehouses, offices and locations and established, in all the larger cities of the country, chain stores, operated directly by the company. The company, however, made three exceptions in Southern California, allowing three dealers, one of them Witmer, who had been especially faithful and successful, to continue to handle the line.

These three dealers, the El Corral proprietor pointed out, are to receive their tires in carload lots, directly from the Dunlop factory, and then sell directly to the consumer.

The new Dunlop prices, according to Witmer, now are in effect.

STARS END SEASON AGAINST 'NITE HAWKS'

Rivers, Contreras Meet In Main Event Tomorrow

INSTALL INDIAN FAVORITE OVER S. A. BOUT Foe

Jimmie Rivers vs. Joe Contreras. That's the dish Henry T. Foust has cooked up for Orange County Athletic club customers tomorrow night, and the ensuing melee promises to draw right along with the recent main events that have attracted near capacity houses.

For the first time since he became a topnotcher here Rivers will enter the ring a sentimental favorite. He probably will be well liked by the gamblers, too. The Fullerton Indian made such a fine showing against Charley Cobb last week that he has the mob stringing along with him now whereas the bulk of it used to go to the south side asking nothing more than that Rivers take a real shelling.

Jimmie has boxed here often of late, meeting some of the best welterweights in Southern California, and only one, Cobb, ever gave him a real beating. Rivers came right back last Tuesday and really reversed that decision although, officially, he had to be satisfied with a referee's draw.

Contreras will be a new sort of competition for the active Fullerton boy. Contreras comes by his "gorilla" and "caveman" cognomens honestly. A rip-snorting offensive batter with little science but worlds of determination to recommend him, he is just the kind of a fighter likely to give a deliberate defensive man like Rivers the most trouble. Joe Reese and "Wild Man" Macias were unable to do anything against Contreras' rushing tactics. Rivers is a much better boxer than either Reese or Macias, however, and probably will be able to evolve some sort of satisfactory protection.

The bout probably will go the limit with Rivers winning on points. It should be close and interesting.

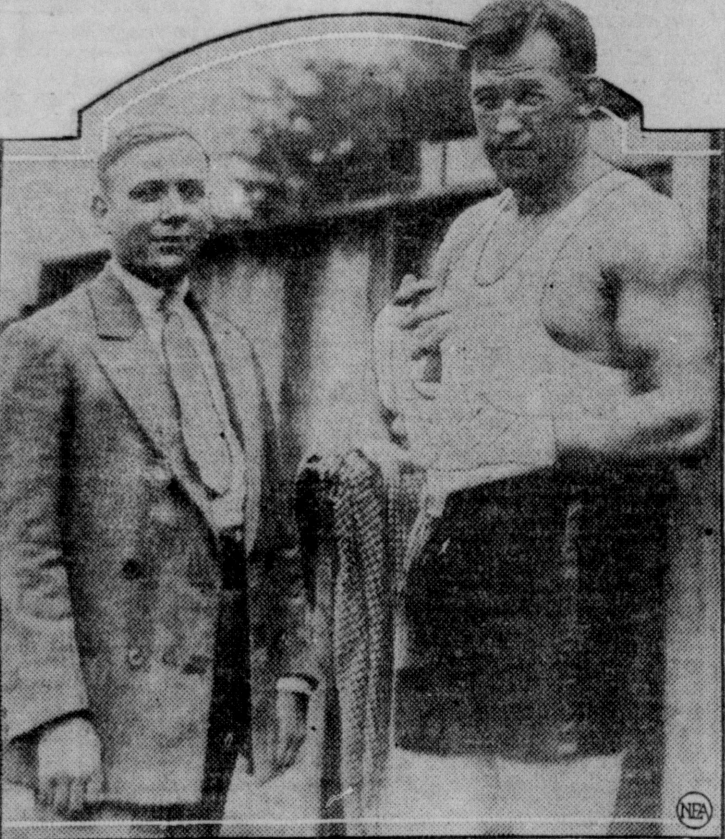

Another Fullerton scrapper, Romeo LeMon, appears in the semi-final against Jack McKenna. They met two weeks ago, LeMon winning in the last minute of play with a dropkick. McKenna walked into one of Romeo's wild swings and found himself in the resin. He was up and about after a few seconds but the knockdown cost him a draw.

Herman Placentia and Raymond Butler, 123-pounders, furnish the special over a course of six rounds, the same as the LeMon-McKenna shindy.

Ned Herman against Manuel Ruiz, and Billy Cain against Jimmy Martinez are the early preliminaries.

SHARKEY GETS WILDE IDEAS

Maybe there's something a heavyweight can learn from a flyweight. Anyhow, Jack Sharkey, ferocious Boston sailor now in training for his forthcoming bout with Tommy Loughran in New York, isn't overlooking any bats. Here you see him, right, at his Orangeburg, N. Y., camp, talking over ring tactics with Jimmy Wilde, of England, former world flyweight champion.

Willowick Plans Days For Service Groups In County

Members of five Orange county organizations will be guests this and next week of Willowick, Santa Ana's new all-grass public golf course.

Women golfers of the Santa Ana Country club will have their day Wednesday of this week. They will compete in a blind bogey tournament beginning at 10 a. m. A suitable prize will be awarded the winner. Luncheon will be served at noon. Mrs. R. C. Noble, wife of Willowick's manager, announced.

Clubmen from Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana will be entertained next week. Anaheim Rotarians will play the course Monday afternoon. The Santa Ana Exchange club, with President John Ott in charge, will have its day Tuesday. Orange Lions will assemble on the course Wednesday. Friday will be given over to the Knights of the Round Table of Santa Ana with the Rev. Moffett Rhodes, president, in charge.

S. A. NET STAR IS BEATEN FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Although Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana co-ed at the University of California, reached the finals of the California state women's singles championships, she was defeated in the title round by Dorothy Weisel, 19-year-old Sacramento girl, in straight sets at the Berkeley Tennis club Saturday.

Miss Cruickshank lost to Miss Weisel, 6-2, 6-3. Past driving along the sidelines and strong play at the net accounted for the Sacramento girl's victory, according to press dispatches.

Miss Cruickshank also reached the final round of the women's doubles tournament only to suffer defeat. Paired with Alice Follett, she lost to Mrs. Golda Gross and Miss Weisel, 8-6, 6-0.

Helen Jacobs and Miss Cruickshank were beaten by Mrs. Phoebe Watson and Miss Betty Nuthall, ranking members of the British Wightman cup team, in an exhibition doubles match Saturday. The scores were 6-3, 6-1.

SAINTS TO GET COOK BEMOANS LOTS OF WORK SMALL TURNOUT BEFORE ORANGE FOR DON SQUAD

This will be one of the most strenuous and trying weeks of Santa Ana high school's impending football season.

Hardly more than warmed up after a week of preliminary activity on Poly field, Coach "Tex" Oliver's Saints today were scheduled to settle down to four days of the hardest kind of labor in preparation for the contest here Friday which jabs the lid off the competitive season.

The Santa Ana preps are to meet Orange in their first tussle. It will be the earliest game Oliver ever has arranged for a team of his coaching since he came here in the fall of 1926. The Saint boss usually prefers to bring his charges along more slowly as the style of game he teaches, with its reverses and fake reverses, is an involved one and usually does not attain real efficiency until November.

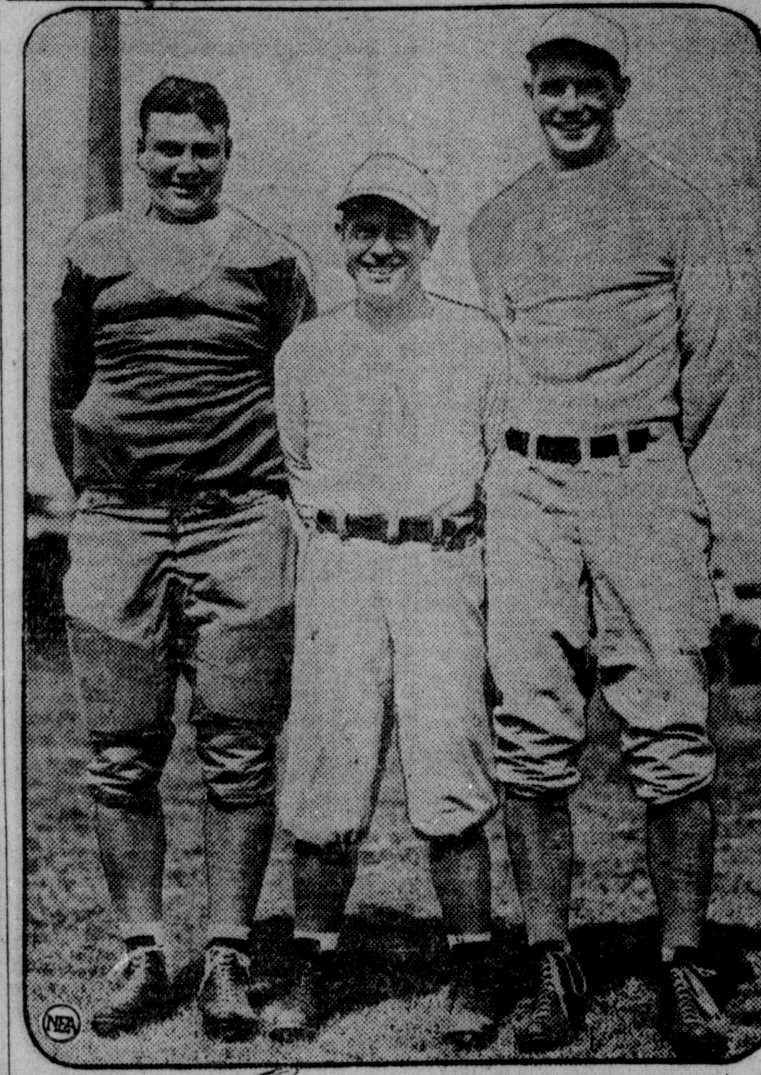

Worse than that, perhaps, is the imminent danger of defeat. Coach Stewart White has had his Orangermen in training for almost a month and his material is said to be much stronger than usual. In fact, Orange has been installed a pre-season favorite to capture the Orange league championship now that Fullerton has cast its lot with the bigger and better Foothill league, and it will mean something if Santa Ana is able to eke out a winning margin.

Oliver is sure to hold at least two scrimmage practices this week. The first one may come today or it may come tomorrow, probably both. It is in actual scrimmage that first string positions are won and lost, so the coach will be a most interested spectator when he puts his first and second string teams opposite each other.

The outlook is still a bit dubious. Santa Ana's backfield should be a good one but whether the line, depleted from end to end by graduation and ineligibility, will be able to stand muster is another story. Oliver needs ends and guards in particular, and the need for ends may become so acute that he will have to move a couple of his backfield veterans to the places occupied so efficiently last season by Captain Roger Hearn and "Red" Cooke. Oliver had Lloyd Nuzum, a veteran ball-packer, at end Saturday and he has threatened to try Harold Pangle, another back, on the wings also.

LASSMAN COACHES AT N. Y. U.

Among the coaches who reported the other day at the Farmingdale, L. I., training camp of the New York university football team was Al Lassman, captain of last year's great team. Lassman, star tackle, who was mentioned for All-America honors during the last two years, was severely injured in the Carnegie Tech tilt last year and recovery of his mental powers has been a matter of concern to followers of football. During the summer he has been resting at Long Beach and during the early practice sessions at Farmingdale he seemed to be fully recovered. In the picture below are, left to right, Leonard Grant, captain of the team; Head Coach Chick Meehan and Al Lassman.

PIRONNE TEAM INVADERS BOWL WITH 29 WINS

Santa Ana's Stars sing their 1929 swansong in the Bowl here tonight. They will close their long night baseball season against the keenest competition in Southern California—Joe Pironne's celebrated and undefeated "Nite Hawks."

The teams will go postward at 8 o'clock. The usual admission charge, 25 cents, will be in effect, with the choice seats going to the first come. A robust attendance is expected to pay its last respects to the strong Santa Ana club that has won 28 and lost but 7 of its 35 games this summer. The team did not make the Southern California championship playoffs like its two predecessors but was generally rated as a better balanced organization than the 1927 and 1928 creations.

Pironne's team comes here with a record of 29 victories in 29 starts. The "Nite Hawks" have been promised a suitable guarantee by the local management and will bring along the full force of their unbeaten talent, to say nothing of a pitcher and catcher recruited especially for the occasion.

"Chico" Sabella, night baseball's premier moundsman, will start for the visitors with his sidekick, Joe Pancho, behind the plate. Sabella toiled for Pomona this season and

FEAR WEATHER MAY INTERRUPT WORLD SERIES

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—By the way, have you made your world series reservations or don't you care much for winter sports?

This is a fair question considering the fact that they have arranged to have the thing intrude so vulgarly into the football season that the first thing you know the promoters of the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena will be getting indignant.

It is a fair question about anything that proposes to come to a conclusion October 17 and may actually do so no later than the following Wednesday week.

What with a couple of normal days of rain, an open Sunday in Philadelphia and 24-hour moratoriums for travel between the two cities, this series is liable to be running longer than Old Man McCongie's beer tap. It even might carry on into the final week of October, by which time the boys won't be sliding into the bases. They will be doing the ski jump. This possibility is not without precedent.

It was away back in 1911 that baseball decided to do some of its running at the winter tracks, in consequence of which the Giants and Athletics overtook the final game of their series on or about October 25. For forward of a week, they tried to play the fifth game of that series but rain and snow and sleet wouldn't have it that way. When they finally broke the ice—I think they finally decided to blast—everybody had turned his attention to something important.

This one is down in the books as the latest series on record, the award having been made after it was learned that some of the newspapermen were back in the bosoms of their families by Christmas. This was unusually early and indicated that they must have been terribly discouraged by something.

The next latest was the 1910 series between the same clubs that are involved this year, the Cubs and Athletics. However, if the impending series goes seven games, the 1929 outfits figure to do no worse than become the runners-up for the long distance championship.

The series is scheduled to open with two games in Chicago October 8 and 9 and, if there is no rain, the boys will be 3 up on old man Frost, the national open champion. If you leave anything open, he wins.

Tickets For Big Night Ball Game Ready Tomorrow

Tickets for reserved seats to Friday night's game in the Bowl between Long Beach and Riverside will go on sale at two places in Santa Ana tomorrow morning. They may be obtained at the El Corral service station, Third and Birch streets, and Baker's bakery, 214 West Fourth street.

The ducks are selling for 50 cents each, the price having been set by Southern California association officials with the local management, merely loaning the use of its park to the championship series participants, having no control over the fee.

Long Beach now leads Riverside in games, 2 to 1. They will collide at Riverside tomorrow night but the remaining contests will be held here, the best available neutral diamond. The 1929 night ball title goes to the team first winning four games.

Elias Funk Sold To Major Leagues

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—Elias Funk, Hollywood outfielder, was sold yesterday to the Detroit club of the American league for $15,000 and two players, William H. Lane, manager of the Stars, announced last night.

nearby pitched the "hitless wonders" of the American league into the Southern California series, falling only when its defense collapsed against Riverside in a play-off for first place that was held in the Bowl here two weeks ago.

Another colorful pastime with the "Nite Hawks" is Carl Sawyer, former major league infielder but far more famed for his ability as a clown. Sawyer played with the "Hawks" here last season. He was in serious mien that night and disappointed a large turnout but Pironne has promised Sawyer will put on his full bag of tricks to-night. At his best Sawyer ranks with Nick Altrock and Al Sacht as a baseball comedian.

The other "Hawks" are all former professional baseball players. They are not much for the rah-rah stuff but they know baseball and how to play it.

Horace Snow, field captain of the local squad, refused to name his starting pitcher today. It will be either Joe Ochoa or Glenn Stockbridge, of course, and Snow may decide to give both gunners a chance in that this is the last contest and both gunners have been of great service this season.

With "Big Bill" Cole back on the job at first base, Orville Schuchardt, who officiated at the bag with skill in the last Whittier tussle, will return to center field.

Pitcher Anxious To Catch On Here

Roland Shepherd, pitcher from the Northwest, is in Santa Ana and anxious to catch on with some baseball club in this vicinity. He turned in some great games while burling in Washington semi-pro ranks. Shepherd may be reached at 311 Brown street.

Weaver To Resign As A. A. U. Leader

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—Robert S. ("Bob") Weaver, for 14 years president of the Southern California Amateur Athletic union, announced last night he planned to resign his position this week.

Press of personal business was said by Weaver to have caused the decision. Warren Bovard, Kinter Hamilton and Leslie A. Henry have been mentioned as possible successors.

HUNTINGTON BEACH WINS LEAGUE GAME

Huntington Beach opened its baseball season in the Long Beach City league with a 6 to 5 victory over North Long Beach on the Huntington Beach grounds yesterday.

The Oilers put on a belated rally to win. Trailing, 5 to 1, going into the last of the seventh, they scored three times on singles by Irlig and McGuire, a double by Marshall and a single by Peavy, and then came back with the tying and winning rallies in the eighth.

"Fuzzy" Page worked the first six chapters for Huntington Beach and "Lefty" Greer finished up blanking North Long Beach in the last three without a hit. The score:

Cubs Near Pennant In National Race

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—The Chicago Cubs and their followers expect to clinch the National league pennant today. Either a victory over the Brooklyn Robins, or a defeat by Pittsburgh at the hands of Philadelphia in one game of a double header will make their victory a certainty.

Should the Cubs win today and lose all their remaining 13 games thereafter, while the Pirates win all of their remaining 16, the final standing will be:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Chicago	34	56	.618
Pittsburgh	33	60	.560

HOKY AND SLIDES Henry L. Farrell

DID YOU KNOW THAT—Clark Griffith tried to get Art Shires for the Senators when the great Shires was 17 years old? . . . He told Art to go out and play under the name of Bobby Lowe, says Art. . . . Art says he never even knew that Bobby Lowe was an old-time star. . . . Shires says he never fights with umpires because you can't win. . . . When Hal Carlson was ill last season the Chicago club cut his salary. . . . During the first part of the 1929 season Hal wasn't much good to the club, either. . . . On July 4 he gave four hits and has been going great ever since. . . . The other day President Bill Veeck called him in and told him he was to receive not only his former salary, but that he would be reimbursed for the salary he lost because of illness.

AND TOLLEY WAS WILD—There were all shapes and sizes of golfers at Pebble Beach, but a type with which you surely are familiar if vaunting ambition ever misled you to a golf course, is that of Dr. O. F. Willing, the de-liberating dentist from Portland, Oregon.

Before making each shot, Dr. Willing goes through all the gestures of an old maid preparing to retire for the night. A tee shot is as important an affair to him as the passing of a peace pact by congress. The only thing he didn't do at Pebble Beach before making each shot was to look behind the nearest trees for Indians. Jokingly, some of the scribes said that his initials "O. F." really stood for "old-fashioned."

THE SURVEYOR—Painstakingly he sighted each putt from every possible angle. There were no airplanes handy, so the only slant he didn't get was a bird's-eye view. It was the same with shots from the tees where he invariably would look down the fairway like a desert prospect or peering at the horizon for possible signs of water. In the rough, though, he wasn't often there—he went through the motions of a Scotchman getting ready to pay a luncheon check for a party of 12.

There was an odd contrast in his match with Cyril James Hastings Tolley, the impetuous, athletic Britisher. Tolley is the kind of gent who walks up to the ball and thumps it. Ceremonies mean just lost motion to him. He wants to be going ahead. Delay irks him.

The dispatches said Tolley was wild. No wonder!

LOTT KNOWS CUSS WORDS—George Lott, jr., the Chicago tennis star, regarded by many of the tennis experts as one of the game's coming champions, says he tries to keep his talk to himself during a battle on the courts. In a pre-view of a talkie picture, showing Lott in a tennis match at Newport, the reason was revealed the other day—Lott, when missing or dubbing a shot, lets go with a flock of longshoreman's consonants that would grade the vocabulary of any dub golfer.

The ball goes into the net, and— "Well, I'll be, etc., etc." says Mr. Lott, and not always to himself. Lott was asked about it. "It's unnatural to smother your feelings whether you're playing for the national championship or just miss a subway," said he. "I try to talk to myself when displeased, but don't always succeed."

Lott believes the United States will soon regain the Davis cup. He bases this on the expectation that the American team next year will be composed of young players.

Lacoste, with a cold that threatens to become chronic, he believes is through. Lott regards Australia as the coming threat. All that is needed by the Aussies, he says, is a capable partner for Jack Crawford. Tilden and Hunter, he says, have proven their inability.

STARS END SEASON IN BOWL TONIGHT

Cole was missing from the Star lineup almost a month while he was absorbing some football at Southern Methodist university in Dallas, Tex., where Knute Rockne and "Pop" Warner conducted a school for coaches.

There will be no other changes in the lineup. "Eney" Wilcox will attend to the backstopping. Bill Foote, "Memphis" Hill and Darwin Scott will team up with Cole in the infield and Wayne Nelson, Schuchardt and "Rosey" Merrill will do the outfielding.

Herb Carter set the pace for his fellow members of the Santa Ana Skeet club on their West Fifth street range yesterday. Carter broke 21 birds out of a possible 25.

Vernon Barnhill, state motor officer, was second with 17. Verne Speich and Henry Gerkin were third with 15. Other shooters and their scores follow: Thomas, 14; Seidel, 13; Jesse, 11; Requa, 10; Fixsen, 9.

Kessey, Portland Star, Sold To A's

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 16.—Jim Kessey, first baseman and field captain of the Portland Pacific Coast league team, has been sold to the Philadelphia Athletics for an unnamed amount of cash and three players, Thomas L. Turner, president of the Portland club, announced today.

Turner also announced the sale of Leroy Mahaffey and George Snider, pitchers, to the Athletics. All three will report to Connie Mack's team next spring.

GRIMM PRACTICES
CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Charlie Grimm, Cubs captain and first baseman, who has been out of the lineup because of a broken left hand, indulged in a little practice today. Grimm expects to be back in the lineup "before long."

Yacht Club Meet Set For Saturday

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 16.—The presentation of prizes for the 1929 yachting season will take place at the Newport Harbor Yacht club headquarters Saturday, September 21. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. and the presentation will follow.

CELERY PLANTED IN TALBERT AREA

TALBERT, Sept. 16.—Between 15 and 20 acres of celery will be planted in the Talbert district this season. At one time celery was the predominating crop of the section.

Numerous Roof Permits Issued

ANAHEIM, Sept. 16.—A wet winter is predicted by Building Inspector R. Nyboe. Nyboe bases his forecast on the number of re-roofing permits taken out here.

The permits were issued to the U. S. Industrial Alcohol company, Kemp street, 275; Mrs. Clara Goff, 208 North Palm street, 1115; Swope Brothers, 158 West Center street, 1115; Salem Evangelical church, 408 West Center street, 1150; W. F. Gressler, 708 East Sycamore street, 120; Mrs. John S. L. Kerman, 301 North Emily street, 250; C. O. Lestros, 317 East Broadway, 220; A. Wieman, 417 East Adele street, 160, and Louis Danz 514 Zeon street, 160.

A permit was issued Saturday to M. J. Bengelch, to erect a five-room stucco house and garage at 755 Topeka street.

POPULAR AS BEST MAN
LONDON, Sept. 16.—Randall Jennings is popular as a best man. He recently officiated in this capacity twice in one day, journeying from England to Scotland to do so. He stood up for his brother Owen at Leeds in the morning, grabbed a taxi immediately after the ceremony, boarded a train for Lanark and arrived to act as best man for another brother, Herman.

SETTLING THE POINT IN GOLF

THE LOST BALL

There is only one procedure to be followed where the ball becomes lost. The player must go back to the spot where the preceding stroke was played and play another ball, counting the previous stroke and adding one more as penalty. In other words if the ball was lost on the tee shot the player would be shooting three.

Sonnenberg Plans To Quit If Beaten

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16.—Gus Sonnenberg, recognized heavy-weight wrestling champion, will retire from the game if beaten by Joe Stecher Wednesday night at the Olympic or by any other opponent, according to friends here.

Gus declared to his associates that he planned to practice law in Detroit, Mich., if his title is captured by another grappler. His reasons are said to include the fact that he has made plenty of money during his spectacular reign as champion and can afford to retire.

CAMPOLLO BOUT POSTPONED
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Because Victorio Campollo, towering Argentine heavyweight, claims he is in need of more time for training, his bout with Phil Scott, the London fire laddie, has been postponed again. Originally scheduled for Sept. 11 and again for next Thursday, the match now may take place Sept. 23.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Sept. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Oliver and children left today for Taft, where they will make their home.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Elmer Hochstein was hostess to the Sans Souci club recently. Prizes were won by Mrs. C. E. Lee, Mrs. Arthur Anderson and Mrs. C. E. Halber. Mrs. Arthur Anderson substituted for Mrs. E. K. Kirby and Mrs. Grace Gorenso, of Alhambra, was a special guest. Others present were Mrs. S. W. Newnes, Mrs. J. R. Wallace, Mrs. A. J. Barnhart, Mrs. L. T. Gillian.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Hulet are spending a few weeks at Big Bear in an effort to improve Mr. Hulet's health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stevens, of La Habra Heights, have remodeled their home by the addition of rooms. Mr. Stevens expects to leave in a few days for his second stay in South America after a three months' visit here with his family.

Mrs. E. A. Eisenacher, Mrs. J. L. Orr and Mrs. H. P. Bender. The Social circle of the Presbyterian church met at the church for an all day meeting Thursday, with a covered dish luncheon served at noon. Members spent the day with quilting, and plans were discussed for the loyalty campaign which started Sunday, and which will be participated in by all departments of the church.

David Miller, 14-year-old son of S. W. Miller, is in the Orthopedic hospital in Los Angeles, recovering from an operation in which a section of bone was removed from his leg and inserted in his back.

TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL PRESENTATION

The Most Highly Perfected Motor Cars in the World Today

NEW CADILLACS

NEW LA SALLES

NEW FLEETWOODS

A greater line of more than 50 magnificent new types and models

A Lower and Wider Price Range on All Body Styles

New Designs—Lower Racier Lines—Greater Seating Capacity—Larger Engines—More Power and Speed—Richer Finer Fisher and Fleetwood Bodies—Non-Shatterable Security-Plate Glass Standard Equipment in All Windows, Doors and Windshields—Synchro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission—Safety-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes—New Harmonized Steering System—New Recessed Instrument Panel—Every Essential Engineering and Mechanical Feature Refined Beyond all Previous Cadillac Standards

With the advent of these three superb lines of new Cadillacs, La Salle and Fleetwoods, in a lower and wider price range, the doors automatically open to admit thousands of new owners to the Cadillac family.

The market has never known cars as highly perfected or as complete in every major and minor detail. So, too, on a price comparison basis, the market has never offered so large a measure of in-built worth.

So sharp and striking is the advantage in favor of Cadillac, La Salle and Fleetwood in the performance, appearance and price alignment of this greatest of all Cadillac programs, that it amounts to the creation of a new Cadillac business and a new and vastly greater Cadillac public.

Cadillac, the world's quality standard, becomes also the price and value standard of the world by which all other car values must come to be judged.

Expressed in the fewest possible words with a full sense of their weight and importance, Cadillac promises in these three groups the greatest chassis value, the greatest body value, and the greatest gross and net monetary value known to the motor industry of the world today.

The first promise of greater chassis value can quickly be demonstrated by description, examination and part-and-quality comparison with the world's costliest cars.

It can be proved likewise by performance demonstration—revealing measures of power, speed and acceleration, transmission ease, braking certainty and riding luxury which even Cadillac-La Salle-Fleetwood have not attained before.

The second promise will reveal itself at a glance in Fisher and Fleetwood bodies so rich and beautiful that the average body appears almost tawdry by comparison.

The third promise can be verified by studying the very best that the market offers in chassis, performance and appearance and noting how far beyond this other best the Cadillacs, La Salle and Fleetwoods go in all respects. A summing up of this comparison can have only one result—proof positive of the statement printed above and reprinted here for emphasis:

Cadillac, the world's quality standard, has become also the price and value standard of the world by which all other motor-car values must come to be judged.

Not in any one thing but in all things—in speed plus acceleration plus power plus economy plus appearance plus non-shatterable Security-Plate Glass plus Synchro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission plus Safety-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes—so unmistakably the greatest monetary value of the industry that no buyer need call upon a salesman to point it out for him.

... Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Cadillac-La Salle delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

'GOD CALLS US TO REST,' SAYS
RECTOR HATTER

"Come ye, yourselves, apart and rest awhile," a text of vacation in preparation for work that is ahead was presented by Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, yesterday morning. The theme of the discourse was "Preparation."

"This text is just indicative of the last two months. Hopes, wishes, desires were laid aside for rest, recreation, relaxation, getting ready for the going on to bigger and greater advancement. It is good to go apart for bodily relaxation. Jesus did this. He often gathered up a chosen few and went away from the crowds for strength and refreshment for his weary body. He also was preparing for what was coming. He was to suffer and His whole people suffered with Him. He took his friends apart to prepare them."

"Jesus welcomed these recesses. He took his disciples apart for their spiritual education. Have we availed ourselves during this period of relaxation of the opportunities for spiritual education. If there has been no such education the vacation has done us little good. During our periods of rest, God will do wonders if we will let Him."

Call Us To Rest.
"God calls us aside. He calls us to rest awhile. The disciples were changed after such periods. They were aided, strengthened, enriched. God bids us make silence in our life, to listen to the still small voice. Sometimes we do not like these silences and if we refuse to make them, the periods come when God makes us listen. If we could catch the sound of the voice of Jesus how wonderful it would be. But in no mythical or eerie way Jesus is looking us right in the eyes and asking us 'what are you going to do?'"

In these periods of silence our characters should deepen. We go over to the other side. In going ample opportunity is given to see much that should have a definite influence on our lives. We see the commonplaces of every day life which have in them the lesson God teaches. Christ and His disciples saw the soil, the sea, the birds of the air, the mustard seed, the lilies of the field. Jesus exemplified these everyday things. There was a radiation from Jesus into the lives of His disciples. They, too, radiated power from their lives. They gave what they received. Are we satisfied to keep what we have and not give it out to the world about us. If we are we are not disciples of Christ. We should learn the supreme worth of character."

"We have an opportunity every 24 hours to go apart. Twice a day at morning and evening devotions we see the other side. Do we remember these minutes apart. When we are in trouble we do not forget to call upon God. We should find time to ask His blessing upon all our plans. What is worth doing at all is worth doing well. We have to go on to bigger, better things. We can never do them individually, but we can do bigger things, more wonderful things for God after we rest awhile apart with Him."

Live In Different Time.
"The text applies not only to our tired bodies but also to our strained imaginations. We live in a different time. We need rest from dreams, from the plans we make. The disciples needed rest from the popularity that surrounded them lest they be led astray by the dazzle and glitter of it. We, too, in this fevered age, need to get away from the glitter of life. In a general way what catches the eye influences us. God is not so foolish. He knows the right proportion of things. Jesus does not like display but He does like depth. He likes us to be filled to overflowing. We have an opportunity of service. We may overflow into troubled souls about us the hard, hard, souls, the bitter souls, the souls that wait to be comforted. We may

Spiritual Light Great Necessity,
Says Evangelist

J. W. Saunders, evangelist in the Southside Church of Christ, preached yesterday morning on "Let There Be Light." The evangelist said, in part:

"The first words ascribed to God in the Bible are, 'Let there be light.' Although this refers to physical light, our thoughts are turned to light in general. God supplies us with mental and spiritual light. This light is essential to the needs of man. We pity the physically blind and the mentally deficient, but the man who is blind to spiritual values is also to be pitied. The Bible is the great source of spiritual enlightenment. Where the Bible is neglected, we find darkness, ignorance, superstition."

WORSHIP NEED
BY REV. OWINGS

"Putting Worship Into the Public Worship" was the topic of a dramatic sermon given in the First Baptist church, yesterday, by the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor.

"From time immemorial worship to the God or gods has been the essential and inevitable expression of human beings," the Rev. Mr. Owings asserted. "Sometimes that expression has occurred in private devotion and sometimes in public demonstration. Countless forms and a variety of motives have been employed, but in it all men have tried to get in touch with the divine through worship."

Continuing, the minister said, in part: "Today we use prayers, hymns, anthems, offerings, and scripture readings as the chief features of our public worship hoping thereby to enable us to breathe the atmosphere of the divine, to lift ourselves toward the divine levels, to grip with the sense of God. The organ and other instrumental numbers are also not to be overlooked in their significant contribution to the worship. We worship really when through these as media we think the thoughts of God after him, have our emotions stirred to love God and our neighbors, come to the decision that our wills are ours only to make them His. Sometimes we mistake dignity for reverence and common courtesy for worship; but worship using these as a stepping stone goes far beyond them."

"Those who attend public worship and seek its benefits find that thoughtlessness and obsession by other things are the chief enemies of the spirit and experience of worship."

"Putting the worship in our public worship depends in large measure upon the architecture of the building and its appointments and also upon the whole atmosphere of the place of worship, but in the last analysis the attitude of the worshipper is most important. Only as he 'wills to worship' do the benefits and inspirations of the worship become his, his soul recharged for holy endeavor."

WOULD BAN BUVO CHEWING MANILA. P. I., Sept. 12.—(UP)—A campaign to discourage buvo chewing has been launched throughout the Philippines archipelago. It extends even to the Moro provinces where the non-Christian tribes are noted as the greatest buvo chewers. Buvo is a native leaf, chewed while it is green. With the leaf the chewers mix lime, or a paste of consistency, a small piece of tobacco and an acaena nut. The lime used in the mixture is prepared from sea shells.

help the souls that are blind, the souls that need to be cleansed and the dead souls that may be made to live."

RELATIONSHIP WITH CHRIST IS GREAT NEED

"The Christian must concern himself, first of all, not with Divine commandments but with the Divine companionship," declared the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, yesterday morning. "The securing of eternal life, according to the conversation which Jesus had with the rich young ruler, depends upon getting into personal relationship with the one who commands—'Follow Me.'"

"Paul emphasized in all his preaching and writing, as his most priceless possession, his personal acquaintance with Christ—I know Him Whom I have believed." As a great theologian Paul discusses the doctrines of the Gospel in a most exhaustive manner; he has worked out his creed of belief with great care; he is a believer in and teacher of sound doctrine. But when he comes to give a statement for the certitude of his faith he does not mention a single creedal item, nor does he call attention to any doctrine or teaching upon which he insisted with the full force of his eloquence, but he gives as the ground of that certitude a personal knowledge of Christ.

"Not what, but Whom, I do believe! That is the deepest heart of need. Hath comfort that no mortal creed To mortal man may give."

Not what, but Whom! For Christ is more than all the creeds.

And his full life of gentle deeds Shall all the creeds outlive.

Not what I do believe, but Whom! Who walks beside me in the gloom? Who shares the burden wearisome? Who all the dim way doth illumine, And bids me look beyond the tomb.

The larger life to live? Not what I do believe, but Whom! Not what, but Whom!

"The human heart aches for assurance, for confidence, for finality, for certainty. We cannot build our Christian life upon speculations. The certainty of our hope both for this life and for the life to come depends upon our really knowing Christ. That knowledge is acquired by faith—'To them that believe is the preciousness.' It is fed by constant fellowship with Him out of our Emmaus-road experiences we grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord. The result of this faith and fellowship is that we are ever conscious of God's presence and power in our lives."

SYNTHETIC DIAMONDS. M'PHERSON, Kas., Sept. 16.—It is the plan of Dr. J. Willard Hershey, head chemist at McPherson college, to produce artificial diamonds. He has already produced several artificial stones, one of them four times larger than any real stone now known. He uses a combination of iron filings and sugar, heating the mass to 2500 degrees centigrade. This is suddenly chilled and the diamonds form in the resulting solid mass.

Navigation Study
Will Be Resumed

The University of California will resume courses in navigation and nautical astronomy this fall. The elementary course will begin September 18 on the thirteenth floor of the Transportation building, Seventh and Los Angeles streets, Los Angeles.

The advanced course will begin on Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the same building.

These courses not only include the theory of navigation, but also a practice cruise, on which the students may take their own observations with the sextant. It is believed that several amateur skippers will take advantage of this opportunity unless it is possible to ensure a repetition of last year's instruction on this subject at a local school.

FRANCHISE IS SEEN

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 16.—Several matters of local interest were taken up and discussed at a meeting of the railroad commission in Los Angeles Saturday. The matter was discussed and as there was no protests made, the request is expected to be granted.

S. A. GROUP IS GIVEN BANNER
AT C. E. RALLY

The Rev. R. B. McAulay, pastor of the hostess church, spoke on "Loyalty" at the monthly rally of the Orange County Christian Endeavor union held yesterday in the Presbyterian church in Orange.

The banner for the largest percentage of delegates attending the union meeting yesterday from one Christian Endeavor society was presented to the group representing the Orange Avenue Christian church of Santa Ana.

Preceding the minister's address, Harold Fish, of Santa Ana, lookout superintendent, talked on his phase of county union work; Warren Mendenhall, of Anaheim, past president and state superintendent of the young people, talked on the necessity of organization in work and in play.

Miss Dorothy Abbott of Placentia, chairman of the county union, presided at the business meeting. Announcement was made that on September 27, county residents, superintendents of adults, young people's and intermediate societies and county executives with the pastors of the county churches, will meet in the Orange Presbyterian church for dinner and to discuss phases of the work for the year.

On September 24, members of Life Work Recruits will hold a meeting with their superintendent, Miss Robbie Anderson, county chairman, in Calvary church, Placentia, at 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. Mr. Matt, of the Santa Ana Evangelical church, opened the devotional service and the Rev. D. J. Brichman, Placentia Presbyterian, advised of young people, closed the service yesterday.

Musical numbers were furnished by a quartet composed of James Lukens, Clarence Rohrs, Kenneth Rohrs and Aubrey Denba. Miss Thelma Green, Placentia, was pianist during the service.

REV. HARDING TALKS ON TEST FOR RELIGION

The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarenes, spoke yesterday on "The Acid Test of Religion," using as a text a clause of the ninth verse of the eighth chapter of Romans, "If Any Man Hath Not the Spirit of Christ, He is None of His."

"Not if any man is a member of some church, or an official in same, or if he has been baptized, or if he is orthodox. You may be as straight as a gun barrel," said the minister, "as cold as one and as empty as one. You may belong to the church, teach a class, be an official, fight for the faith, but the test is 'If Any Man Hath Not the Spirit of Christ He is None of His.'"

"The spirit of Christ is different from the spirit of the world. The Christ says, 'As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them.' The world says, 'Do the other fellow before he does you. Look out for number one. Get all you can and can all you get.' Christ forgave his enemies, and taught that we were forgiven in Heaven as we forgive men. The world says, 'Give them as good as they send. Pay him back in his own coin. I'll get even with him before I die.' You say you can't forgive some folks, then you are lost. You say, it isn't human. No, that is the trouble, most of our religion is a human religion. Men want to see something supernatural; when they do they exclaim, 'That's religion.'"

"Christ was kind, the prophet says of Him, 'A bruised reed He will not break and a smoking flax He will not quench.' Are you kind? 'Christ was full of compassion. Are you? He did not criticize His city. He wept over it. He prayed all night; have you? He was never too tired or thirsty, too far or too late to save a soul, and when offered bread stated He had bread to eat that ye know not of. This old world needs a little bit of love. The church is dying of hardness of heart."

"There are not as many unbelievers in true religion as we sometimes think. They want to see religion in action. We have packed and jammed the church full of members that do not manifest the spirit of Christ."

The pastor referred to Sheldon's book on "What Would Jesus Do," and said: "I am asking each day, what would Jesus do if He lived in this city. If He were pastor of this church what would He do? I want you to ask yourself that question in your home, in your business and in your church."

RECORD PEAR TREE. HAZLEHURST, Miss., Sept. 14.—A Fullington claims to have a record pear tree. To date this year the tree has produced about 7000 pears. So heavily are the tree's branches loaded with fruit that they have to be propped up to keep them from breaking.

Christian Science

"Substance" was the subject of the lesson-sermon Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, in Boston, Mass. The lesson-sermon consisted of Bible verses and correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

Among the Scriptural selections were these assurances of Paul to the Corinthians: "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

The science and health passages included these words of Mrs. Eddy: "How true it is that whatever is learned through material sense must be lost because such so-called knowledge is reversed by the spiritual facts of being in Science. That which material sense calls intangible, is found to be substance. What to material sense seems substance, becomes nothingness, as the sense-dream vanishes and reality appears."

MEMBER DRIVE IS INAUGURATED
BY BIBLE CLASS

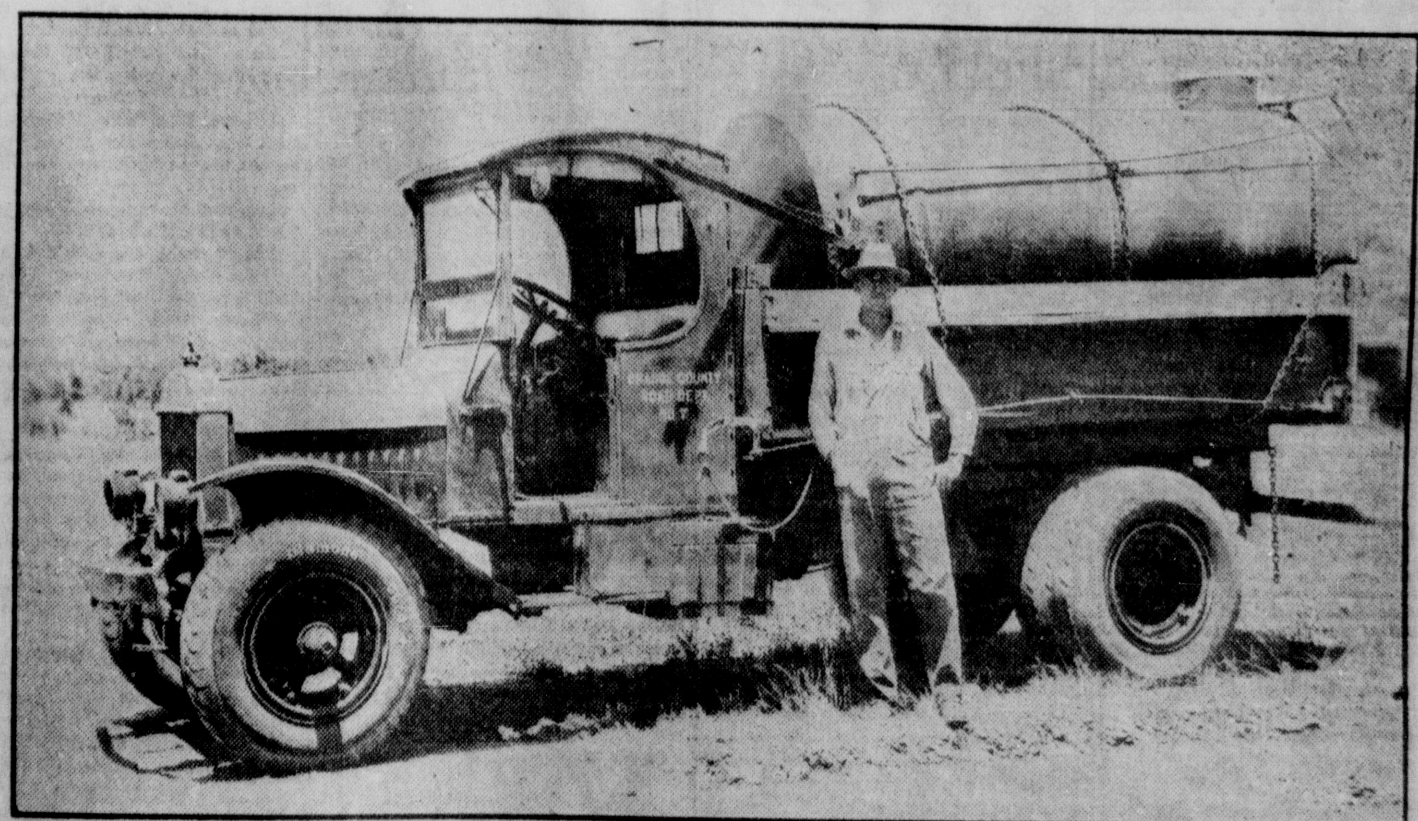

With the membership divided in 12 committees, the Men's Community Bible class yesterday inaugurated an attendance campaign that is expected to attain its climax on the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving, when the men hope to reach an attendance of 1000.

The power of the word of God was the theme of the lesson presented by the class teacher, the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, yesterday morning in the Fox-Walker theater. "Men fail because they do not listen to God," the Rev. Mr. Buchanan asserted, "and because they do not have His truth in their hearts. A man will not rob if he has the truth of God in his heart. The word of God is a power that protects us."

"The apostle Paul set Rome on fire with his personal messages. The reason that America stands out today in the position of leadership is because her statesmen and leaders are men who have come from homes where the Bible was a real force. The men in early days who went up and down the land, putting Bibles into the homes of the people, laid the foundation for the greatness of this nation."

Parade Planned
In Cypress Soon

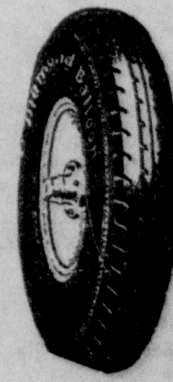

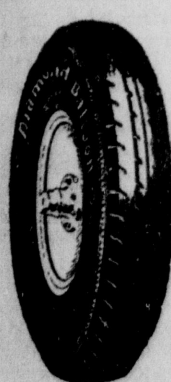

CYPRESS, Sept. 6.—The street work in Cypress is about completed and the people are planning to celebrate. It has been suggested that there be a public parade with music and dancing. The parade is to feature costumes of the different periods of American developments and prizes will be offered for the most appropriate by the business men and by the chamber of commerce. The date will be set later.

Another Diamond Booster

The sprinkler pictured above is used by the County of Orange in their Road Construction Department with John Hutton at the wheel. It is in service after the breaking up of the old roadbed by the road roter, thereby making travel unusually rough going. After this procedure any transportation encounters large pieces of rock besides uneven grading, but according to Mr. John Hutton, driver of this truck, no time is lost due to tire trouble. Needless to say, you would expect plenty, in view of the conditions of travel. The county has used Diamonds on this sprinkler exclusively for the past two years. They have had excellent service from them and speak only of praise for this wonderful tire—namely, DIAMOND.

Eighty-fifth Birthday Anniversary Is Celebrated

J. C. Joplin was the honored guest at a delightfully appointed dinner party given yesterday at the home of Dr. J. P. Boyd and his sister, Miss Rosa Boyd, 801 North Main street, to celebrate his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary.

Mr. Joplin, who has been county treasurer for a quarter of a century has made his home in this county for more than 50 years. He came here from Virginia in 1877 and settled in Bell canyon. He is a prominent member of the Confederate Veterans' association in this city.

Vice-principal of Julia Lathrop Is Home

Mrs. Iva M. Webber, 425 South Ross street, who today resumed her duties as vice principal and dean of girls at Julia Lathrop junior high school, reached home only a few days in advance of the general opening of schools, after an extended automobile trip enjoyed with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Kellogg, who spent their vacation in a leisurely drive across the continent to New York City where both were expecting to take special courses at Columbia university.

Driving north from Santa Ana, the three visited friends in Portland, crossed Idaho, spent several days at the Yellowstone, and continued to his cattle ranch at Chubwater, Wyo., where they were entertained by Mrs. Webber's niece, Mrs. Roscoe Swanson, and her husband. In Torrington, they visited former Santa Anans, Mr. and Mrs. George Miles, whose home was on Polinetta street. Mr. Miles is superintendent of the sugar factory at Torrington.

In Eldon, Ia., their former home, they were met by Mrs. Webber's sister, Mrs. L. W. Gruwell of Muncie, Ind., for a visit with other relatives and friends, after which the party separated, the Kelloggs continuing east through Chicago, Detroit, London, Can., Niagara Falls, to New York City, while Mrs. Webber went to Oklahoma City to visit a sister, Mrs. Rachel Acton, whom she had not seen for 18 years.

The whole trip was successful, according to the Santa Ana educator, who declared that the only hot weather experienced was on their way north, in the Sacramento valley.

District Officer Is Guest at Meeting Of Rebekahs

Official visitors were greeted at the Saturday night meeting of Sycamore Rebekah lodge, No. 140, in Odd Fellows hall. Mrs. Minnie Eplan, of Brea, accompanied by her marshal, Mrs. Nadaline Hardman, made her official visit to the lodge as district deputy. Mrs. Amelia Prather, vice president of the Rebekah assembly, also was present.

The feature of the meeting was the monthly celebration. All members whose birthdays occur in September were honored guests, seated at the round table in the banquet room. Mrs. Eplan, Mrs. Prather, Mrs. Hardman and Mrs. George Peters, grand officers, were escorted to the round table by the honorees.

Tables were laid in a most attractive manner. Unique favors of talcum powder flowers arranged in colors of white and yellow, together with nut cups made of tiny hats on standards, added a charming note to the appointments. An elaborate birthday cake centered the table.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cook, Tommy Crawford, Mrs. May Curtiss and Mrs. Sarah Cohen, comprised the committee that arranged the party.

Among the entertaining features of the evening's program was a group of violin selections by Miss Emeline Richards, who was accompanied at the piano by Miss Allen Lair.

Plans and announcements were made for a card party to be held October 12.

Mount Rubidoux Offers Romantic Setting For Wedding

When Miss Jeanne Khilling, daughter of Mrs. Ada Khilling of this city and Balboa, was wedded yesterday morning to John Calvin Kirkpatrick of Los Angeles, on the summit of Mount Rubidoux at Riverside, she realized a dream that began in her childhood days back in Fort Smith, Ark., when she first read of the beauty of the Easter sunrise service on that famous peak. At that time, yesterday's bride declared her intention of some day being married on Rubidoux, and yesterday's ceremony was as impressively beautiful as her girlhood dreams had fancied.

The nuptials took place at 9 o'clock, with Dr. Gardner, pastor of Riverside Congregational church, officiating. At the appointed hour, he took his place at the foot of the cross where the Easter dawn is welcomed each spring. There he was joined by Mr. Kirkpatrick, attended by his brother, Richard Kirkpatrick, with Miss Evelyn Wolford, gowning in a smart frock in tones of brown, as maid of honor. Miss Khilling went alone to this natural altar where her bridesmaid and the groom were awaiting her.

She was a very charming bride in her graceful gown of poudre blue georgette with touches of pearl gray and gray accessories, and carrying a great cluster of delicate pink rosebuds and lilies of the valley. At the conclusion of the service, she stood on the highest peak and separating her bouquet into clusters of roses and lily sprays, tossed them to her friends below so that each bore away a floral memento of the charming wedding.

Mr. Kirkpatrick took his bride upon an automobile honeymoon to be spent in the Southland before their return to Los Angeles where an attractive home is awaiting them, and where he will resume his duties with the ignition company with which he is connected. He is the eldest son of Dr. Joseph H. Kirkpatrick of Los Angeles, and was born and educated in that city. His bride came to Orange county with her mother some half dozen years ago. She was born in Fort Smith and after going through the schools there, was a teacher in the same city. For several years after arriving in California, she was manager of the Ahaheim Merchants' Credit association, but for the past year has been associated with her mother in the latter's restaurant business on North Main street in this city.

Among guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Truchel and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Smith of Los Angeles, who accompanied Mrs. Khilling, and who were at her wedding in Arkansas 30 years ago.

IS MODERNITY NEW

Sometimes I Think It Is BUT Sometimes I Think It Isn't

By Velva G. Darling

Quality used to be the measuring stick of the success of a man's business. Modernity has changed this radically. Today, the clock is the final arbiter. Grandfather used to boast that the contractor he picked out to build his house was so good that it took him three YEARS to complete the job. Today, his grandson brags about the "corking job" his prize contractor did in three MONTHS! The man who succeeded ten years ago was the one who was the most detail-minded. Today, the one who comes out on top has to be "air-minded." Mergers, chains, amalgamations—from New York to San Francisco in 48 hours—the telephone, automobile, elevator, wireless, have turned business and social calculations upside down. Women no longer "go calling" of an afternoon. The very idea of it looks absurd to you now. But ten years ago, the woman who didn't simply wasn't "in the know, my dear!"

BUT, on the other hand, for all our present dashing from coast to coast in a couple of days, and our thinking not in the terms of ONE grocery store but of a chain of a THOUSAND we really aren't experiencing one single new sensation, or thought, or emotion! We pride ourselves on being extremely broadminded, independent and free in mind and action—we do as we please and "the devil take the hindmost." But in the recently published works of a Frenchman, Moreau de Saint Mary, who spent many years in America during the first years of this country's independence, is an intimate account of the modern life of America—in the Eighteenth Century! I quote from the report of a book reviewer, who says he would not dare translate for public consumption many of the undoubtful truths this Frenchman tells of American women of that time. "He found illegitimate children extremely common, divorce was scandalously easy, the freedom of lovers was astonishing, the ordinary age of girls at marriage was fourteen." "Young girls," he found, "roved the streets in giggling groups, frankly out for adventure." What does THAT remind you of?

Sometimes I think that all the airplanes and electrical and wireless marvels—the most creative genius can conceive will never change human nature—it will always be just as modern as it is capable. And human nature, like water, never rises above its own level. But certainly never before have procreation and failure in business been such close synonyms. It is the man who "gets there" the fastest, thinks the biggest and acts the quickest who makes the grade today. The survival of the fittest goes to the AIR-MINDED—and there has never been anything like air-mindedness in the whole, wide world before. Learn what it means—quickly!

The WOMAN'S DAY

It seems to me that feminists have failed to capitalize the big thing that came out of the women's air derby.

When interviewed, the winner, Mrs. Louise Thaden, asserted that the women's air derby had revealed a sportsmanship among amazement and perhaps consternation deepened when plane after plane settled down and bobbed head after bobbed head came out from under helmets and cockpits smiling and hurrying the winner.

The sportsmanship was deeper than any demonstration that took place on the field. At several points the big planes waited for the little planes when winds were too strong for the wee ones to fight them. When Amelia Earhart's plane developed trouble with its propeller and delay ensued, with spontaneous unanimity the entire derby laid up until she could hop off again with them. When the planes had landed it was discovered that Amelia Earhart had carried the luggage of several of her competitors. With that fine smile of hers, this admirable sportsman explained it away. "They were having a hard time with overload, I had to have some ballast. I thought it might as well be their luggage."

There is something symbolic in the passing of aviation from the stage of pioneer "lone eagle" adventure into a stage of co-operation. Simultaneously, it seems to me, feminism is passing into that same stage.

GIVE AND TAKE

Feminism, like aviation, had its "lone eagle" individualistic stage when women leaders were primarily egoists fighting for personal places in a man-made world. They found little time for constructive co-operation.

Now, like aviation, feminism has crossed into the higher stage of practical give and take. Women and airplanes are no longer on the defensive. They have "arrived," are accepted. Their place in modern society is secure.

Therefore women can abandon the earlier pugnacious feminism. The time is ripe now for a higher development. It is the moment of co-operation and a spirit of sportsmanship that can stand to see other women win.

It took a spectacular event like the air derby to crystallize this change.

A "SUCCESS CLINIC"

In New York a big organization of women is putting into practice the spirit of this sportsmanlike co-operation. The Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries, founded six years ago for the purpose of advertising women's business and professional achievements, now has developed an interesting side-purpose. It is called a "success clinic."

Several times a year meetings are arranged for members for the sole purpose of making contacts for members to help them towards success in their given line. It may be an artificial means of inducing success. But it has been surprising how many big advertising women, manufacturers, owners of businesses and other feminine successes respond. They come, not to get anything out of it for themselves, but to help lesser lights in their very own lines climb a bit higher towards the heights they have reached.

Surely, the age of sportsmanship and co-operation in feminism has arrived.

Now See What the Scales Say

Today is the day you again step on the scales. Don't forget to weigh on the same scale, with approximately the same weight of clothing.

If you have carefully followed the diet and exercises your weight should show a loss for the first week of at least two pounds, while those carrying a lot of soft fat will lose almost a pound a day.

Don't get discouraged and don't let anyone tell you dieting is foolish....hanging onto excessive weight whether it be 10 pounds or 50 pounds is foolish!

Be sure and use the set of exercises each morning, and don't neglect the night and morning baths.

Exercise for Torsion—Movement No. 6

Stand with feet slightly apart, hands on hips and head erect, chin in. Inhale. On full breath start a forward bending of the body until the body from the hips up is at a right-angle, bend with legs. Keep the head and spine on straight line all the time, exhaling as you bend. Inhale and come back as far as possible without changing the position of head and shoulders. Repeat five times.

Menu for Eighth Day of 21-Day Diet

BREAKFAST—One-half glass of orange juice, three slices of Zwieback with one-half pat of butter, one-half cup scalded skim-milk for coffee. No sugar.

LUNCH—All or part of quart of milk after cream is removed, one glass of orange juice, or one sliced orange, or half grapefruit. No sugar.

DINNER—Fruit cocktail (pulp one-half grapefruit, one slice pineapple, juice and one teaspoon sugar), two medium slices of beef meat loaf, three tablespoons dried carrots, three tablespoons cauliflower dressed with one tablespoon thin cream. Cucumber and lettuce salad with mineral oil.

French dressing. Clear tea or black coffee.

Raw Spinach Salad

6 cups raw spinach chopped
1 cup grated carrot
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1½ cups minced celery
1½ tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
4 hard cooked eggs
French dressing

Save this recipe; it will be used in the reducing diet, but the family will enjoy it as well.

In a chopping bowl put the pepper, celery, onion and parsley, cut fine, chop a little finer before adding the shredded raw spinach; then continue the chopping until the whole is like meal. Last of all, add grated carrots. Season to taste and marinate for an hour in mineral oil French dressing blended with the cooked egg yolks. Serve in mounds on crisp lettuce and garnish with julienne shreds of egg white. The dieting member of the family may have a large double portion.

The calorie total is 800 when mineral oil dressing is used. This type of salad well deserves its title of "health" salad, for it combines vitamins and mineral elements to perfection.

Making Beef Broth for Diet

Buy 3 pounds of lean beef and cook it in three quarts of cold water until reduced one-third. Season when nearly done and drop in quartered turnips, carrots and celery to cook tender. Remove and chill them to use in a salad for tomorrow. Let the meat cool in the broth—it appears later in baked hash.

The leaflet for this week is one in which I take delight! In it I describe my favorite recipes and tell how to cook the various foods under discussion.

The leaflet is available free of charge this week if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to this department; just ask for "My Favorite Recipes."

BUDDY ROGERS FILM NOW AT BROADWAY

Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Nancy Carroll come to the Fox-Broadway theater today in their new picture, "Illusion," an all-talking Paramount feature. The show will run through Thursday. "Illusion" is the screen version of the story by the same name, written by Arthur Train, which appeared in the Ladies' Home Journal in serial form early this year, later being put into book form, and is a story that already is known to thousands of persons.

The picture is the second all-talking in which these two stars have appeared, their first being "Close Harmony," here several months ago.

The story is one of a circus-reared lad who attempts to become a favorite of society only to find that the bonds that held him in his youth are too strong for him to break after he becomes a man. He feels his responsibility to his own kind and returns to them.

Nancy Carroll plays the part of a vaudeville performer in the play and is in love with Buddy.

Edward Everett Horton, in an all-talking comedy, "Prince Gaby," a Paramount playlet, "Carnival Man," and a Fox Movietone news-reel complete the bill.

'STREET GIRL' NOW AT WALKER THEATER

A spirited and tuneful drama that clearly shows the possibilities of the new-form musical film entertainment is "Street Girl," which opened in the Fox-Walker theater today to run through Wednesday.

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. declared a distinct success along this new line.

Featuring Betty Compson, who has reached new heights through talking pictures, "Street Girl" has a cast of well known players, including John Harron, Ned Sparks, Jack Oakie, Guy Buocola and Edna Kane.

Miss Compson is seen as a girl who obtains employment as a violin player and entertainer in a small Hungarian restaurant. The ability of the musicians with whom she works finally is recognized after an unpromising start. Success obtains for them a night club of their own after a series of disheartening experiences.

"Street Girl" was adapted from the W. Carey Wonderly story, "The Viennese Charmer," a dramatic tale of New York's "Little Hungary."

The wooden cow then barked some more, 'till Coppy cried, 'I'm scared and sore. I've been so badly shaken up I think I've had enough. This cow's not friendly. Not at all. Oh, gee, supposin' I would fall, I'd rather ride a real live cow that wouldn't be so rough.'

'Well, jump right off,' one Tiny cried. 'If you're afraid, let someone else ride who knows just how to do it. Surely, that cow's not so bad. She's made of wood and should be tame. The answer is that you're not game. I must admit the way you ride looks very, very sad.'

So Coppy slipped down to the earth and ran for all that he was worth. He simply didn't want to take the chance of being kicked. And then he shouted, 'Someone go ahead and stage a brilliant show of riding. I am not ashamed to say that I am licked.'

Then Clowny bravely raised his head, looked at the bunch and calmly said, 'Please all stand back. I'm going to ride this cow and ride him right. I'll hop on bravely as can be and I will be a sight to see. I'll promise that I won't fall off—although, perhaps, I might.'

The cow stood still while Clowny jumped upon its back. Oh, how he thumped. 'Now, watch me, boys,' he loudly cried. 'This ought to be real good.' And then he said, 'Giddap, there, cow, I want to show the Tines how to ride you very nicely like a classy rider should.'

The cow began to moo real loud. Then laughter broke out in the crowd. They knew the cow was getting mad. Soon it began to tear. At first this seemed like thrilling sport, but then it quickly stopped, real short. This took poor Clowny by surprise and he sailed through the air.

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example: to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

If you really love your neighbor as yourself you won't borrow his garden hose and then lose the little rubber washer out of the end of it.

The dollar is the only thing we can think of that goes faster after it is broken.

LIFE IS WHAT WE MAKE IT BY MAKING WHAT WE CAN IN IT.

Unlike the horse, the automobile doesn't eat when it isn't working. But the rust on it does.

If crime includes violations of the motor laws there's a lot of it going on in this country.

It would be another great boon to the country if the federal farm board could work out a cooperative association for nuts and wallflowers.

Wonder if the daughters of silk stocking manufacturers can withstand the craze to go bare-legged; and if the daughters of those who make the cotton ones can overcome the temptation to wear silk?

And considering that mother Eve was clad only in a fig leaf, even if Adam were only his pajamas he was pretty fully dressed.

Cheer up, boys and girls of America! Each one of you has a chance to become a successful magazine writer by working your way up through the Presidency.

RELATIVITY BROUGHT HOME
A motorist driving up into a strange yard in Fullerton asked a little boy if his dog would bite. "Tee, he bites," said the little boy, "but he doesn't bite very hard."

COMMUNITY PROVERBS
By Mealy Bug
GIVING THE HOME TOWN A BREAK DOESN'T MEAN BREAKING ITS SPIRIT.

The "biggest man in town" isn't really the biggest man in town unless he does for his community proportionately as much as the average run of other citizens.

IMAGINE!

Imagine a city of nearly 35,000 people.

In a part of the country that is called God's.

Imagine the people of this city especially alert, unusually prosperous, outstandingly cultured, and distinctively American.

Imagine surrounding this city spacious fields, golden groves, and near it majestic mountains, a mighty ocean and a seasonal river.

Imagine a city of homes and children; a climate unsurpassed; with people who want to work and play, and go forward, and live and love and be happy.

Imagine this city's streets lined with dwellings and business structures, motoring popping, traffic pushing by; a county seat with court house where justice is administered; lodges, clubs, churches and schools; the largest city in the county.

Imagine a typical and modern American city in California, with all that heart could yearn for, and that mind could visualize, and with all the opportunities that hand could grasp.

Imagine its name is called SANTA ANA.

And then imagine this city WITH ONLY ONE PUBLIC PARK, and that with an area of ONLY ONE SQUARE BLOCK!

IMAGINE!

You and your Friends

H. Ballard, president of the Edison company. Holders of common stock numbered 40,803 individuals.

The great popularity of Southern California Edison company securities among the investors of the California, where 90 per cent of all the Edison company stockholders reside, is indicated in the increase of 937 in common stockholders during the eight months. CHAPTER XIII

Brent and Helen lunched in Tonkers, in a cheerful little tea room where an experimental-minded proprietor was trying out the idea of a gypsy atmosphere, achieved through the medium of a palm-reading fortune teller whose fee was included with the price of the meal.

Helen was at first too excited and apprehensive to take an interest in the woman when she came to their table, but later, after Brent had talked to her and the woman came back Helen submitted to having her "fortune" told.

She smiled at Brent over her outstretched hand, thinking more of him and his remarkable power to sway her than of the woman who sent a grimy finger tracing the lines of her palm.

A moment ago, little more, she'd been intuitively afraid of the near future—afraid that her grandfather, once convinced of her relation to him, would demand that she give up Brent's guardianship of herself and accept her place in the world as the Cunningham heiress.

Brent had swept aside her fear, declaring that Mr. Cunningham was of too suspicious and crabby a disposition ever to accept the truth. "But even if he did," he added cunningly, "I can't see why you should be unhappy about it, Helen dear. I know you aren't interested in his fortune but if he needs you, "He had let his voice trail off with effective suggestiveness, planting the first seed of sacrifice in Helen's mind.

Before either of them spoke again the gypsy woman returned and Helen tore her thoughts away from Brent to listen to what was told to her.

She smiled over the woman's promise of lots of money and a happy marriage, with a warning to beware of an older man.

Brent smiled too. It was, of course, a stereotyped fortune, but it amused him. The law of averages had worked to make the advice good on this occasion, he told himself.

After lunch they drove up the Hudson and Helen tried to talk of the future—where they would live—what they would do—but Brent was strangely silent.

Helen too fell silent and when they returned to Bramblewood she was conscious that Brent had accepted the change in their plans as being inevitable.

It had a depressing effect upon her and when they again entered Mr. Cunningham's room she experienced a sense of futility. Whatever these two men decided for her would be her fate. She knew it, because she knew she had not the will to stand against Brent. She could not force herself upon him. For in spite of what he had said about his own secret dreams there was his past that she could not weigh. This would keep her from trying to settle the issue herself.

So she said nothing beyond a polite greeting to Mr. Greaves when he was introduced to her.

The lawyer's keen eyes swept her face in one searching glance and he satisfied himself in an instant that whatever she might be she was no common crook.

Of Brent he formed a similar opinion. The man aroused an intense interest in him. For Brent was as poised and unemotional as the sphinx.

He answered the questions put to him calmly and unhesitatingly. Mr. Greaves was puzzled and at the end of the interview, when Brent and Helen had gone downstairs to wait in the library, he told Mr. Cunningham that he could not give an opinion on the matter, except to advise a thorough investigation of Brent's story.

Mr. Cunningham nodded in agreement. He had already decided that such an investigation should be made.

"Attend to it at once," he ordered, rather peremptorily.

"And in the meantime," Mr. Greaves said, "we must keep these two under observation."

"Quite right, quite right," Mr. Cunningham rapped out impatiently. "Ask Miss—Brent, to remain here. Either she really does not care to do so, or she is a consummate actress."

"You mean remain as a member of the household?" the lawyer questioned.

"Yes. We will keep her here on probation."

"Not a bad idea," the lawyer returned, "if she will agree to it."

A few minutes later, when he repeated Mr. Cunningham's request to Helen, she was not prepared to have his doubt of her consent so emphatically realized.

She declined to accept Mr. Cunningham's proposal. Declined in the simple words of sincerity.

Brent came over and put an arm on her shoulders. "Helen dear," he said gently, "I'm afraid that you don't realize our position. 'I believe,' he paused and looked at Mr. Greaves, "that we are under suspicion."

Mr. Greaves barely refrained from nodding assent.

"I should never forgive myself if I let you do anything rash—anything you might regret," Brent went on, smiling tenderly down at Helen.

"Oh, you wish me to stay?" she cried in dismay.

"Yes," he said, "I do. Because there must be an end to ruthless-ness somewhere. It may be your duty to think of your grandfather. And I do not want you to make a hasty decision. I want you to be sure of what you do. It may be only for a short time. Their investigation may not satisfy them."

"I hope it doesn't!" Helen declared, the tears of defeat springing to her eyes.

"H'm," Mr. Greaves said to himself. "Then you will stay—until you are sure of yourself?"

"I'll stay," Helen promised; "but as for being sure of myself, Leonard, why can't people ever believe that even kids have minds of their own?"

Brent smiled. And turned to Mr. Greaves.

When Helen's answer was carried to Mr. Cunningham he did a strange thing. "Thank God," he said. It had been a long time since those words had passed his lips.

Helen's first night under the roof that she believed had sheltered her mother was spent in tears. She felt like a prisoner and remembered that her mother had actually been imprisoned there. For a moment she hated her grandfather with a white-hot hatred. Then the memory of his goodness to her came to her mind and she buried her face in his pillow, feeling like a traitor.

He had put out his hands and said to her, in a voice of infinite pathos: "My dear, I hope you are my granddaughter, for you are very sweet, and I need you to help me forget my mistakes. They weigh heavily upon a man as near his Maker as I am."

Helen wished she could forget how much her mother had suffered. And in the days that followed her wish slowly became at least a partial reality. Mr. Cunningham was very kind to her. Whatever doubt he still retained about the genuineness of their blood relationship she saw only the yearning in his eyes to have her love.

He kept her in rather constant attendance upon him at first, until he saw that she was looking pale and tired. He sought to draw her out one day about herself, but Helen evaded him.

She was grieving for Brent and the imminent death of her hopes. For she had no doubt that she was the Cunningham heiress and would eventually be accepted as such.

And while she waited here alone was sailing, distant places were calling. Leonard was alone in New York. They might have been together, dining, dancing, riding in Central Park, planning their future.

But of her disappointment she said no word to him when he came to Bramblewood.

Brent was far too astute to appear often, and he knew without speaking to her about it, that Helen would not reveal her heart to her grandfather.

In Mr. Cunningham's presence he was discreet to the point of wounded Helen, who believed that he was beginning to be glad he was relieved of his responsibility toward her.

Mr. Cunningham set her quietness down to solitude and looked about for a way to make life more pleasant for her.

One day when she came to him, tremulous and on the verge of tears after an unsuccessful attempt to coax Brent to stay to dinner, he asked her if she was lonely.

"Isn't there someone you would like to invite here?" he said when she had looked away without answering his question. "Some of your school friends, perhaps?"

"No," Helen burst out, "no. But I don't see why I should stay here! You haven't accepted me as your

EVENING SALUTATION

"To accomplish things, you must first feel that you are capable of accomplishing them."
—Henry Ford. (Forbes Magazine.)

WHAT WILL THE BOARD DO?

We do not know what is going to happen tomorrow in the Carrillo case. The Register has done its duty entirely in the matter by presenting the facts to the employers of Carrillo, the Board of Supervisors. It should be borne in mind that the interpreter of the county is simply an employee of the Board.

The Board of Supervisors can do any one of three things tomorrow. First, they can take the position with Mr. Carrillo that he has done nothing that they do not want their servants to do. By sustaining him, they can tell him that he can continue to do just as he has been doing. They thereby say to the people who have complained of intimidation and of extortion, that they won't be believed, and that they have no rights before the Board of Supervisors that a white man is bound to respect. They thereby say that they, the affiants, can't be relied upon in any case, and that the Board doesn't propose to interfere with what the Court Interpreter has been doing. This is the only interpretation that could be put on sustaining Mr. Carrillo without investigation, and without an investigation that really means something.

In the second place, they can order a real investigation of his activities, based upon the facts which are already before them in the form of affidavits, and suspend him in the meantime. If this is done, the Mexican people will be free to speak without a feeling of fear, as they consider him an official of the court and intimidation may be present.

We are assuming at this time, of course, that a bonafide and thorough investigation will be made by the Board. The only question is, while Carrillo's activities are under investigation, whether he will be kept in his position.

Thirdly, the Board has the power, of course, to discharge him entirely, and to place someone in his stead whose sense of justice and square-dealing is unquestioned.

The Register has no spirit of vindictiveness concerning the Court Interpreter. In fact, if he is sustained in his position, we should say that the interpreter is simply doing that which those who employ him want done.

We have no power to demand. We can only make requests. We believe that we have pointed out the pathway in the interest of all the citizens of the county. We believe that the Mexicans should be protected from the kind of things that have been going on. If our opinion differs from that of the Board of Supervisors in this, it must differ, of course. The Board of Supervisors has the power. They are the employers. We are not.

We will say this, however, that we believe that if the board will frankly and wholeheartedly go into this matter, they will not only be rendering a service which is much needed, but will correct a condition immediately which will have to be corrected in the end anyhow.

A Chicago boy, riding a tricycle, injured an aged pedestrian. Just wait until the lad is big enough to own an automobile.

HENRY FORD AND THE OLD-FASHIONED KITCHEN

Henry Ford predicts that the home of the future will be without a kitchen. That, he asserts, is in line with efficiency and the trend of the times. Families are to eat out in some public place conducted co-operatively or in restaurants and hotels. There will be no questioning, "What shall we have for dinner? What shall we set up when the Joneses come to visit us next week?" There will be no irksome washing of dishes, which so often takes the joy out of a meal for those who have to perform that drudging task.

But we can see that we stand to lose a great deal. There is some satisfaction in having what you want for dinner. There is little pleasure in eating strawberries when the rest of the world is eating strawberries. And that is what is apt to happen for those who patronize public or co-operative dining halls. It may be that the economic independence of the modern women will make for the truth of Henry Ford's prediction. But we must confess that those who have good cooks in the family, who still do their own marketing, stand to lose something when homes become kitchenless. But it will not be tomorrow or next year that Henry Ford's prediction will come true. So, why worry?

WHAT BECOMES OF MODEL T'S

We have learned now what becomes of the innumerable old Model T's which have been cluttering up the roads, and which still appear in great numbers on the highways of the country. An ingenious Yankee up in Maine has been buying all he can lay his hands on at $25 each, and using them to take fishermen and hunters along ordinarily inaccessible roads to where the fish and game may be found. To walk to these places is impossible. To risk a good car on such roads is hardly prudent.

So this ingenious Yankee charges $15 to take the hunter or fisherman to his destination and brings another one back to civilization for the same amount. When he returns from such a trip he can afford to throw the car away, which probably he may have to do. Surely, we are an ingenious race of people here in the United States. It reminds us of the story that the packers use everything from the hog but the squeal. And who knows but that some ingenious American may be able to catch that on a phonograph. Although we cannot remotely conceive of any use that can ever be made of a pig's squeal.

FRANK STATESMANSHIP

The directness of Chancellor Snowden at the Hague, and the equal frankness of President Hoover concerning the Shearer propaganda in the interest of a big navy points the way for the modern statesman. The Snowden stand at the Hague has entrenched the Labor party in undisputed power in Britain. The rank and file in all parties there are applauding the Labor ministry, not only for the stand of Chancellor Snowden at the Hague, but also for the directness of Ramsay MacDonald in the matter of the limitation of naval armaments and the evacuation of the Rhine. Mr. Hoover's directness in meeting the Shearer type of propaganda has enlisted public sentiment on his side as nothing else he has done in his six months of the presidency. The country is with him, and brave is the man today who will criticize the president, as many of them did when he arrested the cruiser building program.

It is this directness and frankness that the people like. They get very weary of shuffling and time serving and the enunciation of platitudes. So when a man comes out and calls a spade a spade rather than an agricultural implement with an oblong base, they not only understand him, but they are ready to follow him. That was the secret of Mr. Roosevelt's control in the days when he was president. Sometimes he was a little vociferous, and sometimes he was too ready to enlarge the membership of his famous Ananias club by calling some very honest and respectable people the somewhat offensive term liar. But in the main he struck a ringing note, and the people liked it.

In the light of this we wonder how secret diplomacy and "weasel" utterances can endure. We wonder how long before some politicians will learn that to take the people into their confidence is better than pulling strings behind the scenes. It is good to have men like those in control in Britain, in France, in Germany, and in our own country. Let us hope that it marks the beginning of a new school of statesmanship.

MERGERS HIT THE CIRCUS BUSINESS

Those of us who can look back somewhat more than a generation to the days of our boyhood recall the circus days of that early period. It was a dull week when another circus troupe did not come into town with its few wild animals, its few freaks, and its few sensational performers. They moved from place to place in their own vehicles, and rarely went more than twenty-five miles to the next point.

Then came Barnum, the greatest showman of all times, who could humbug the people and make them enjoy being humbugged. When he introduced the two ring circus we thought we were getting our money's worth. But when he introduced the three ring circus, it was a real bargain, and to attend this show was an event. One by one the little shows took to the back towns, while Barnum with his trainloads monopolized the great cities.

Now comes the news that the Ringlings have effected a merger of all the circuses, and when the merger is completed, Barnum will look like a piker in comparison. Yet it was bound to come. What hit the railroads, the telephone companies, the automobile business, the steel industry, the dairy interests, and all the rest, was bound to hit the circus. "The greatest show on earth," once merely a bit of extravagant advertising, none too true, is really to become a fact. The last of the Ringlings becomes the king of the beasts, the acrobats, the clowns, the fat men, the bearded ladies, and all the rest. What comes after the circus?

Tourists Bring Much to Southland

There was a time when tourists were the chief "crop" in Southern California—when prosperity in this section depended largely upon the collective outlays of visitors from other states. This period is ended. This section would be prodigiously prosperous even though very few tourists came to it, thanks to the rapid and substantial industrial and business development of this section.

Tourists and transient visitors, however, are still a very profitable asset in this part of the state. That live-wire organization, the All-Year Club of Southern California, reports a survey made which shows that tourists and transients who stay long, spend a grand total of more than $344,000,000 annually, or an average of $104 per inhabitant of the ten Southland counties.

Southern California will continue to attract large numbers of very desirable tourists, vacationists and transient visitors, winter and summer alike. There was a time when tourists came only in winter. But more and more are coming now in summer and generally they find the summer climate here very mild and delightful—August just past one disagreeable exception. The features which for a generation have been luring tourists and sightseers are still here and will remain here forever. Meanwhile, development of industries, business and commerce will go on cumulatively. Consider, for example, tire-manufacturing concerns in Los Angeles. One great concern came. After awhile another, and then another, until now there is a flock of them. This way industries multiply in this section. Development in other lines keeps pace with manufacturing.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE FOOLISH FLOUNDER

The flounder turns his head
Forever upward toward the skies.

Yet always flattened out is he Upon the bottom of the sea.

The shark, a very wicked fish,
Athwart the foaming, surge will swish.

Depraved of heart and evil eyed
He casts his gaze on either side

For some poor fish on which to sup
The while the flounder's looking up.

The flounder has no greed for gulls,
He wears a calm benignant smile,

As if to say, "Take no alarm
I bode no other creature harm.

Quite safe are minnows, sprats and lings,
My gaze is fixed on higher things."

And yet the flounder never tries Above the sand and mud to rise

But on the ocean bottom stays
Through all his dull, eventless days.

And one should certainly not wish
To emulate that sort of fish,

Who seeks to fill ambition's cup
By lying low and looking up.

He'd vastly more deserve our praises
If he would swim the way he gazes.

GRAVE DANGER

The producer who put the voice of Vesuvius on the screen probably took care that it did not sound as impressive as the voice of Mr. Mussolini.

PRACTICE

Mr. Hoover is fond of damming streams, thinking perhaps that in that way he will be prepared if he has on some occasion to apply the same process to congress.

POSSIBLY AN IMPROVEMENT

Better Still

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

The Leviathan is steaming at the dock. A mechanical wonder. It can carry across the ocean in a week more goods than the fleet of Columbus could carry in a generation. We can trust the engineering machinery to do its part with friction reduced to a minimum.

Will the Leviathan, then, fulfill its purpose? Will it carry abroad a full cargo, and bring back a full cargo in exchange? Probably not. We cannot trust our economic machinery to do its part. There is too much friction. Too much of the sand of politics is thrown into the gears.

And here are huge banks, bristling with mechanical contrivances; vaults piled high with money. What do we do with all this mechanically perfect equipment? Do we maintain a flow of money that keeps our factories busy and our labor employed?

Far from it. Every now and then we fail to provide consumers with enough money to move the vast stocks of goods which our mechanical ingenuity has piled up.

Then prices tumble; orders are canceled; furnaces are banked; the unemployed tramp the streets again.

Ships are ready. Mills are ready. Machines are ready. Marvelous technical equipment! If we only knew how to keep it running, we could feel and clothe and house twice our population.

Or, better still, abolish poverty.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

DON'T BE TOO EXPERT

Most popular notions are wrong. And one of the primary duties of the free-lance critic is to explode widely-held wrong notions. I want, therefore, to examine today the false worship of expertness which is crippling the careers of thousands upon thousands of modern men and women.

The new age is playing havoc with old adages.

The other day I motored through an out-of-the-way rural region that stands somewhat out of the current of contemporary life. The farm houses had the feel of an earlier day. Their furnishings spoke of a mellow yesterday rather than of the mail-order-house output of today. On the walls of some of the houses I saw the yarn-lettered mottoes I remember from my Missouri boyhood. And I fell to thinking of the curiously soundness of the maxims and mottoes that were so plentifully quoted a generation ago—particularly the maxims in praise of expertness.

By common consent our forefathers glorified specialization before the age of specialization. The shoemaker should stick to his last, they said. Jack-of-all-trades and master of none, our forefathers said reprovingly, when they encountered a man who dabbled in many things.

And it must be admitted—the early days of the machine age seemed to underwrite the soundness of such maxims.

The new age of division of labor called for the expert.

The all-round craftsman of the older age found himself put out of work by the new specialist.

But the thing that called the specialist into existence was science and invention, and as long as science and invention moved slowly enough for society to absorb the changes they brought in their train without too great disturbance of the class and craft arrangements into which men fell, the adages and maxims about specialization held true. But today science and invention are marking the work of the world with lightning rapidity, so that, as some one has said, "whatever our children may look forward to as a chosen occupation may at any moment suddenly be altered beyond recognition by strange new inventions and fresh engineering developments."

The thing we may play for and pray for in our children now is not narrow specialization but nimble versatility.

We must watch and guard against any tendency in education to force upon our children too early a hard-and-fast vocational choice and training, for the lad who knows how to do several things will stand the best chance of surviving in the swiftly changing generation that lies ahead.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE FIRST DAY

The first day at school is of high importance. After the mother has set the child in the right mood for school the teacher must receive him in the proper setting, in the right mood, all set for the successful day.

The teacher ought to be well rested so that morning finds her feeling fit. A healthy happy body is the very first requisite in our profession. Children take the essence of life from the teacher's being so the reservoir must be full to the brim this first morning.

A pretty gown is essential. Of course no teacher will go to class in the garb of mourning. That isn't done. The gayer, the prettier, the younger, the better. A bright flower, a gay ribbon, a bright smile will bring the light to a child's eyes every time.

The teacher must be truly glad to meet the children. It is not possible to hide one's spirit from the children who live in the room under its influence all day long. They will find out the inwardness of the teacher before the first recess. So be happy and glad and cheerful.

Have the program prepared. Know exactly what you are going to do and how you are going to do it. It is necessary that the teacher go to school a day or so before the opening of school and set everything in order for the great day.

All books need fresh, clean covers. All pencils must be new and properly sharpened—not too fine a point or there will be tears at the very start. We must avoid all cause of tears.

That means that mothers must hand the teacher a card with the child's name, telephone number, address written plainly upon it and go their way. It is essential that mothers leave the classroom promptly and cheerfully. No backward glances; no tearful goodbyes; no "Kiss mother goodbye!" A mother who leaves a tearful child behind her has done a very poor job.

Children like a business attitude in the classroom. They like to follow orders, to accept a formal routine. "Take seat number two, second row; hang your things on hook two, second row; you will find your picture book in your desk. Thank you."

sets the stage for business and eliminates the emotional mood. The teacher must strive against emotion in the classroom attitude. Any tears, any undue petting, promising, kissing, will set the stage for trouble. Avoid it. Speak in a firm, courteous, clear tone. Know what you mean and see your program through without haste or excitement.

Teach the children the classroom routine this first day. Teach them how they are to stand and sit and march, teach them the doors to be used, the stairways, the general traffic regulations that are observed in their goings and comings. Teach them how to handle material, how to place it and how to use it. Get the first day right and you will have little trouble with class management.

Teach something new the first day. And the second day. And every day thereafter. Prepare thoroughly for this first day in school and all the other days will be the happier.

BATTLE OF HARLEM HEIGHTS

On Sept. 16, 1776, the Battle of Harlem Heights, in which the Americans repulsed the British troops, was fought on what is today the site of Barnard college of Columbia university.

British battleships had opened fire on the Americans the preceding day and a general panic ensued. General Washington, galloping down to the scene of the battle, came upon the disordered troops. He succeeded in getting his army off without loss and then took post at King's bridge, beginning to strengthen and fortify his line.

While Washington was thus engaged, the British advanced and on Sept. 16 the Battle of Harlem Heights took place, in which great bravery was shown by the Connecticut and Virginia troops, the two commanding officers being killed.

This skirmish was the first taste of victory for the Americans and encouraged the troops. However, a few days later the British warships came up the Hudson past the forts, brushing aside the boasted obstructions, destroying the Americans' little fleet and obtaining command of the river.

LITTLE JOE

YOU DON'T HAVE TO PRACTICE ON ANY INSTRUMENT TO PUT ON AIRS.

Time To Smile

REALISM

Little Herbert arrived home one evening with his clothes full of holes.

"Your new suit is ruined," exclaimed his mother. "What have you been doing?"

"Well," he said, "I was playing at the grocer's with Reggie and John. All of us had to be something—and I was the cheese."
